It's finally completed. All of our hard work has paid off.

I'd like to start off by saying "Thank You" to the entire second and fifth period yearbook classes. Without them, obviously, this book would not have been possible.

Extended thanks goes to co-editors Jen Shockey and Chris Collier. These two working side by side made one heck of a team. Their creative ideas became a reality. Art Correa and Darrin Howlett headed the second period photography crew, while Dave Becerra and David Somovia took control over the fifth period shooters. Maia Neilson and Anne Jenkins for their endless work on the Senior Biographies. Jeff Mirrione for all your crazy art work. Thanks guys.

In the fifth period class Karen Chesnut, thank you, thank you, thank you for the understanding and accepting an almost impossible assignment! Smile Karen it's all over with!

To our ad salesmen Dennis "Too Tall" Ross and Elena Ayala. The time and effort will pay off. To Jessica De La Cruz thank you for putting up with my tantrums and all the "little" problems we faced while working on the senior section. On the same note Damon Arnett, give yourself a pat on the back. You deserve it for putting together all the senior section stories.

To The Pinnacle for their endless use of their "magical" laser printer. To Ann Mason, literally the backbone of the yearbook. There is no way we can ever fully thank you for all your time, energy and patience. I guess seeing your final work will somehow make up for that. Also, a great big thanks goes out to Maria Kersey for designing an absolutely "fantastic" cover. Super job Mrs. K!

And finally to Mr. Don Smith, our fearless leader, THANK YOU so much for your patience with the both of us was not abused, believe us! We probably never had the time, with deadlines tugging from every which way, to say "Thanx." So we finally made time. We just wish you the best of luck next year. We just hope you keep your sanity!

HALLOWEEN

What does Halloween mean to you? For some people it means CAVITIES and that dreaded visit to the dentist. But for others it means a time to dress up and have fun.

This year, students at San Benito High showed their spirit by dressing up in wild and original costumes.

A wide variety of costumes were spotted around campus. Amongst the many were clowns, jailbirds, the California wine coolers and yes, even one of the coneheads.

The cutest and most original costume was the above-mentioned California wine coolers, Todd Silva, Nancy Brum, and Molly De Wulf.

Senior exchange student Jussi (John) Pietilla stated, "Halloween was great. I liked the way people came up with real original costumes. Over in my country, Finland, we don't have anything like this."

Senior Jeff Mirrione said, "Halloween's a time to dress up and be our natural selves without being criticized for it."

This year our teachers also joined in the fun. It was great seeing them dressed-up in a different way in which we were normally used to.

English teacher, Ms. Clark said, "It was fantastic seeing how the kids dressed up. It's one way of getting school spirit up."

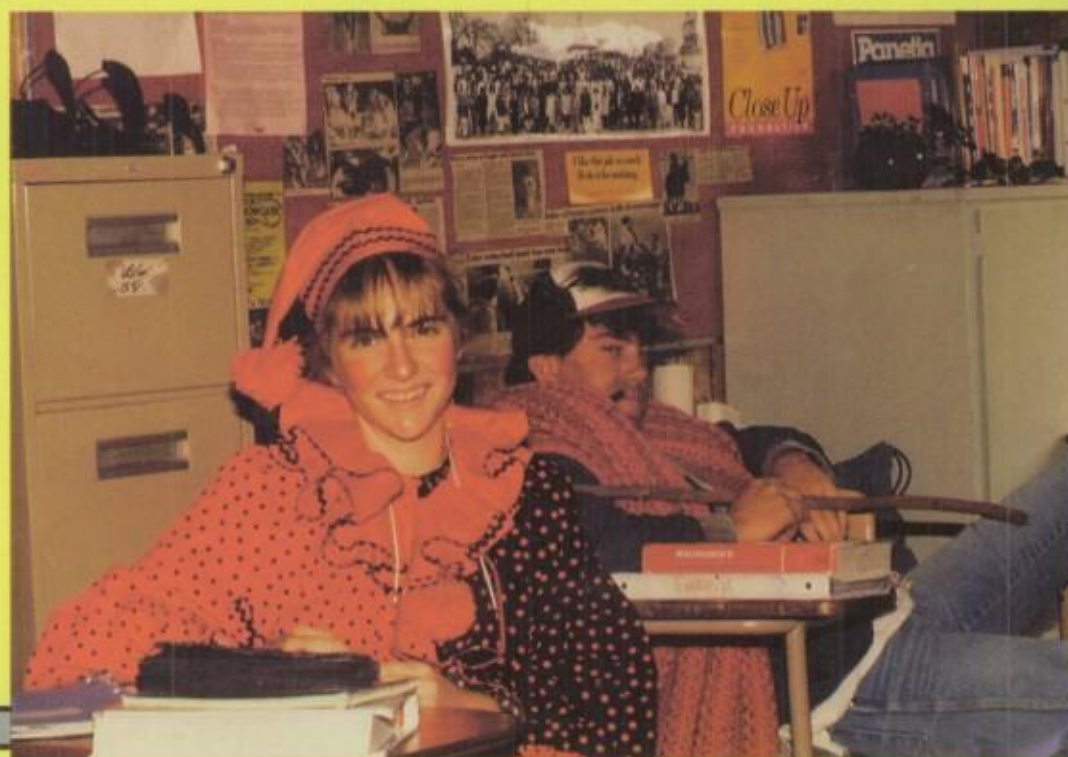

I personally thought that it was great. I really liked all the costumes. Many students did put a lot of effort and work into their costumes.

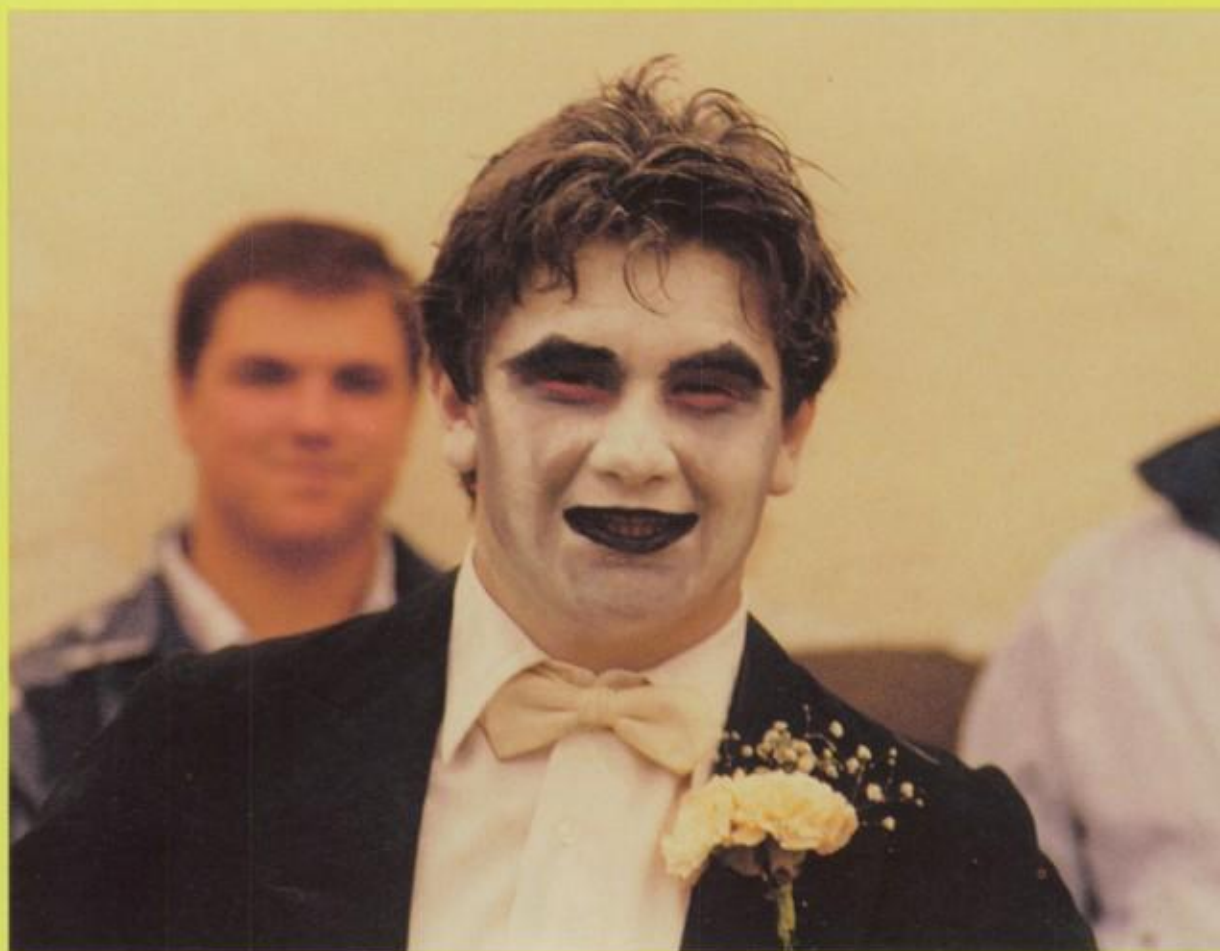

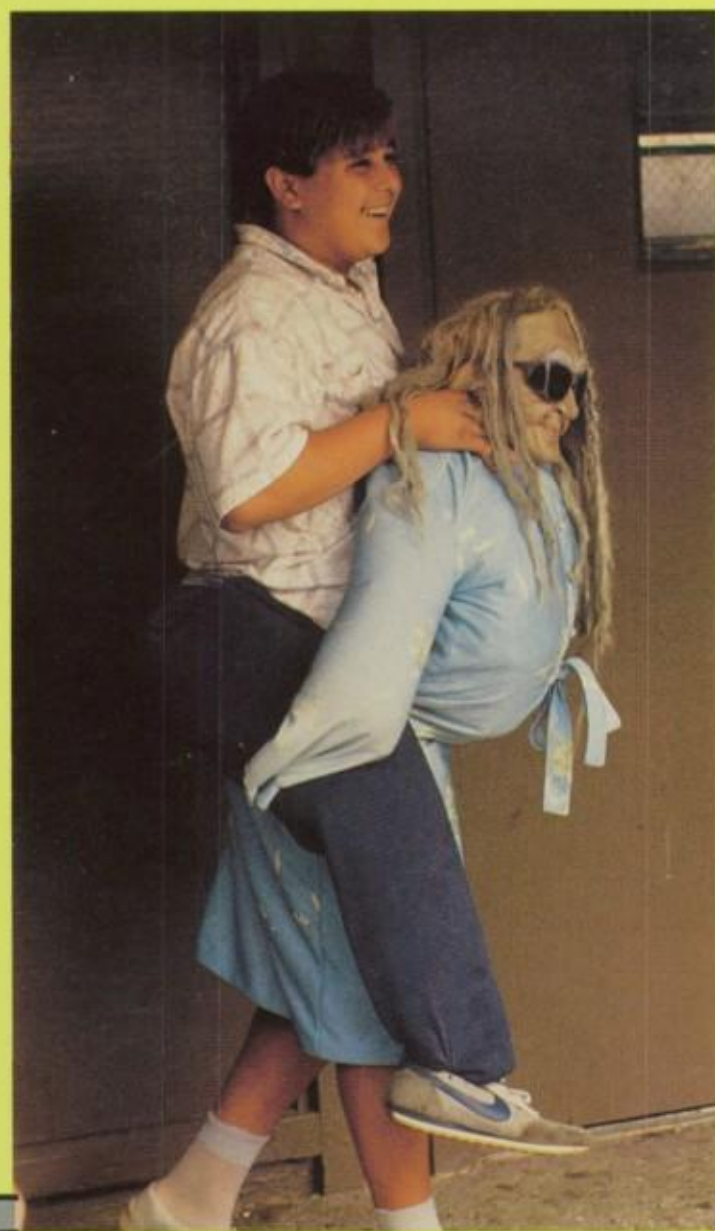

In the end it really paid off because all of the costumes looked sensational.

WE'VE GOT SPIRIT...

This year's Spirit Week took place during the week of October 25-30. It consisted of five different dress-up days.

On Monday, each class showed their spirit by wearing a different color. The Freshmen wore green, the Sophomores wore yellow, Juniors wore blue, and the Seniors wore black.

Tuesday was hat, tie, and sunglasses day. Students wore everything from baseball hats and Ray-Bans to cowboy hats and bow ties.

With Wednesday came twin day. This day was when friends could purposely wear the same outfit as the other without being called "trendies."

Not only was Thursday beach day, but we also had a special B.L.T. in which the Baler football team held a slave auction to raise money. Auctioneer and coach, Pete Lavarato, sold the varsity football players, including Phil Stevens, who went for the highest amount of money - $85.00

Another activity that took place during the B.L.T. was a volleyball tournament in which teams from each class and teachers competed with one another.

When Friday finally came around, students supported the Balers by wearing red and white. Since Friday was the last school day before Halloween, students dressed up as everything from jailbirds to California Coolers.

After all classes were over, everyone went over to the stadium to give one final bit of luck and encouragement to our Baler football teams for the night's games.

At the rally we held class competitions in which the Seniors won most, if not, "all" the time.

After the rally everyone went down to San Benito Street to watch the spectacular Baler homecoming parade, which included floats made by members of each class, and some made by clubs.

Also in the parade were the homecoming princesses and their escorts, the band, the Grand-Marshalls, and assortment of decorated vehicles.

This year's Spirit Week was one that will never be forgotten.

Here stands a proud Liz Sanchez, not yet knowing she would be crowned Homecoming Queen.

A TIME OF EXPRESSING OUR SPIRIT

At 1:30 on Friday, November 6th, the streets were closed and the crowds anxiously awaited the 1987 Homecoming Parade. The stage was finally set after long hours of planning and work.

The Homecoming theme was "It's a Small World" and it brought floats displaying the cultures of other countries. The judges had a hard time picking the winner, since they were all showing top form. When the decision was made the winner was the juniors with "Our Mission is to Break the Vikings." The freshmen came in second, the sophomores came in third, and the seniors came in fourth.

At half time of the football game the floats paraded once more and the princesses and their escorts were presented. Exiting their cars were freshman princess Priscilla Cardenas with her escort Steve Goularte, sophomore princess Yvette Macias and her escort Ian Carter followed. The junior princess was Natalie Hegg and her escort was Travis Eastman. Finally came the senior princesses and their escorts: Kris Ranney and David Becerra, Tina Candelaria and David Somavia, and Liz Sanchez and Todd Silva.

As last years Homecoming Queen,

Jill Alexander, approached the field the tension mounted. Who was going to be the Homecoming Queen of 1987 - 1988? The winner was announced: It was Liz Sanchez!

When asked about winning, Liz said, "It was the most memorable event in my life."

To top off the night, our football team beat the Vikings 23-15. When senior Art Correa was asked about his impression of homecoming, he replied, "It was a real distraction, but exciting week for the football players, but at the end it was all worth it."

"Praise the Lord," says Mrs. Schiavo rally club advisor.

"Yeah, that's it," exclaims senior Cindy Flocken.

FIVE, FOUR, THREE, TWO, ONE. . .BALERS, BALERS #1

Laughing, jumping, red and white bodies screaming in the bleachers. Yes, that's what a rally is all about.

Yeah, yeah we got the Baler spirit. Without spirit what would a rally be? When asking students around campus what they thought about rallies, sophomore Kelly Branco stated, "I think rallies are fun." Senior Jo Anne Tambo stated, "Yeah, I enjoy rallies, but I think they could be more exciting so people could be more spirited."

Rally club members tried their best to make rallies more of a success this year. Rally club president, Jennine Dureau said, "The rally club is working really hard to make rallies more exciting and involve the students more. All we need now is total participation from the crowd to make rallies a great success."

Without participation from the crowd, rallies wouldn't be what they are - that is fun, enthusiasm and spirit.

Although a majority of students showed their Baler spirit, there was always those who were a little less enthused than others. Sophomore

Tiffany Silva stated, "I really enjoy participating in rallies, but it is kind of embarrassing when not everyone is cheering and there is only a few people participating."

When asking senior Jennifer Thorning if she thought we should have more at school, she stated, "Yes, because it gets students spirited and makes school a less boring place to be."

If this year's rallies were any indication S.B.H.S. will be anything but boring.

- Christine Silva

"Mmm, it looks good," exclaims junior Kim Duffield.

THE PEOPLE WE COUNT ON

When class is over, it's time for the campus life. Brunch, lunch, or after school - this is known as "campus life."

During this period most students spent time with their friends. Some students did their homework in the library, while some students ate in the cafeteria.

If you were hungry and didn't want to go to the cafeteria, there was always the snack bar or the catering truck you could count on.

Senior Matt Mattos said, "Whatever you do don't eat the burritos."

Some seniors spent their time trashing freshmen. While some freshmen spent their time hiding.

Most people used this time to talk to their friends about what was going on in their off-campus life. Whether this included relationships, other friends, family life, or anything else, everybody had something to talk about.

There was a lot of controversy involving the double lunch. Some people were upset because it broke up friends, while others liked it because the lunch lines were shorter.

Senior Connie Gibson said, "Double lunch would bother me if my friends weren't there, but they are so it doesn't bother me too much."

Senior George Ford said, "I like having double lunch, because I have second lunch and all the little punks are in the first lunch."

Senior Mike Pulido said, "I don't like double lunch because you can't see all of your friends. Also, there is too much noise coming from students eating lunch, which makes it hard for other students in class to study."

Other than double lunch, there weren't too many complaints.

Everybody had to live a fast campus life, because at the sound of the bell it was time for class again.

KILLER CLOTHES

This year had lots in store for fashion trends at H.H.S. Styles were jumping with color and pizzaz.

There was a great variety of what we all wore this year - some of the styles were hot, and some were not.

What was hot? The different styles of boots girls wore this year. Whether it was ankle boots that laced up or a more casual boot with fringe.

Reebok hi-tops were still hot on the shelves, but this year they've added colors to choose from, blue, hot pink and more. The word in pants? Acid! Acid washed everything. Skirts, pants and jackets. Worn with an Esprit or Forenza sweater would do. A mini-skirt and sandals or shorts and your hi-tops for the warmer days.

For guys, a pair of 501's and a shirt usually would do, but some guys decided to take a few steps into the styles of the time. Some of the things worn by guys were cut-off sweats made to shorts with a pair of Reeboks for the athletic look

The "surfer" look was also sported by many guys this year. Rad!

Now, what's not hot?? BELL BOTTOMS and OPEN-TOED CLOGS!! If you wore those, it was time to take a trip to the mall!

In summary, if you want to look good be prepared to spend, spend, spend! Looking good in 87-88 carried an expensive price tag.

Going once, going twice, sold!! says Mr. Lavorato while Paul Peterlin doesn't seem to be to happy about it.

THRILLS OF BALER LUNCH TIME

The first B.L.T. of the year attracted crowds of students at every activity. The choices the students had were to attend a rock concert given by Tsunami, a watermelon contest, a dunk booth, and class competition.

At the second B.L.T. the slave auction was a popular activity again. varsity football players were sold to the highest bidder. Phil Stevens received the highest bid, selling for $85.

Another crowd pleaser was D.J. Charlie Campa. As he played the latest songs, the crowd enjoyed themselves either by dancing or just watching and listening to their favorite songs.

The third B.L.T. brought a comedian from San Francisco, Frank J. Prinzi.

Prinzi had performed in many commercials and movies before coming to S.B.H.S., including Star Trek IV.

The poor sound system was hampering Prinzi's performance, until Activities Director Dr. Kathryn Mook had an ingenious idea. Dr. Mook went to her room and returned with a small bullhorn.

Prinzi was able to use the small bullhorn with some success, however, to the delight of all, Dr. Mook returned again with a larger bullhorn. Prinzi's performance was, from then on, heard by all.

As the year went on the B.L.T.'s proved to satisfy all tastes. There were photo booths and volleyball games, as well as other activities.

Nearly everyone had something positive to say about the B.L.T.'s.

"I like B.L.T.'s because of single lunch and because they raise the school spirit," said Darren Gong, sophomore.

Senior Yolanda Meza added, "It's nice when we can be with the friends we don't eat lunch with because of Double Lunch."

Shirley Orca and Travis Thompson catch the motion.

THE DAILY GRIND

To some, having a part-time job is a necessary burden, they need the money so everyday they trudge to work with their feet dragging.

However, this sorrowful view is not shared by everyone. To many starting their first job is like a burst into the world of high finance.

The first pay check is a very exciting experience for a newly hired teenager. It is easy to recognize the "First Pay Check Syndrome" by the wide open, darting, sale searching eyes, and the increased pulse to insure a quick grab for the wallet at their favorite store's counter.

Part-time jobs are a student's ticket out of the dull drudgery of penniless weekend activities, or of having to remind parents that they have not given out allowance.

Jobs bring a sense of independence and help to break the chord from their parents; something that must be done before a teenager graduates.

Teens that were once bound to home or their neighborhood can now travel and visit friends much more easily with their newly acquired transportation.

They can go for pizza or Cokes whenever they want, and even go to other cities to have fun.

Many people with part-time jobs do not associate these freedoms with their jobs. When they think of their jobs, thoughts come to mind of pushy bosses, bad hours, and not getting that big raise.

When I got my first job..." said senior Richard Lipscome, "...my spare time seemed useless. I could have been out making money at work."

The skills learned while on the job, such as responsibility and quick mindedness, are not as important as the money to most. Some would probably do anything for a good steady pay check.

"My money is for shopping and for the weekends," said senior Francisca Perez, "Otherwise there would be no entertainment for me."

So, as we grow older, and our thoughts turn to the wonderful '87-'88 H.H.S. year, we'll think a lot about our jobs, but even more about the fun that our money allowed us to have.

Removing the maple creams for a waiting customer, Anne Felice proves that she lives to serve.

DANCE MANIA

Punk, Rock, Metallica, New Wave, you name it! The style of dancing this year was danced to any type of music possible.

The beat from the music is what gave you the rhythm you needed to start a new or old dance.

This year the dances at H.H.S. were full of spirit and laughter. Everyone had the energy to keep the dances going until the very end. But the only problem was that some people felt that the dances should of been held longer because of the time you got there the dance was almost already over.

Many of the dances we had were mainly after-game dances which didn't leave very much time to dance. "I think that I would like more dances, because it's good time to get with your friends and have fun," said Margarita Noriega.

"On the other hand others think that the dances should have been longer as senior Dawn Sadowski said, "I think the dances needed to be held longer than usual. I remember one dance I went to after a football game that was only an hour long because the game ended so late. A lot of dances are only a couple of hours - too short!"

Although the dances were not always the greatest there were still some good points. An example of a great dance would have been Homecoming. A lot of people went and everyone was having a great time getting down and going wild as they danced to their favorite songs.

The dances were also a great time for friends to get together and get crazy. But it was also a time to meet other people or even maybe make a new friend.

As senior Karen Torres explained, "Yeah, I enjoy the dances here at H.H.S., especially since all of my senior friends went this year. We always had a great time."

The H.H.S. wall girls at the Homecoming Dance await the question: "Will you dance with me?"

How low can you go?

Senior Robert Gonzales does the "tie" dance for everyone.

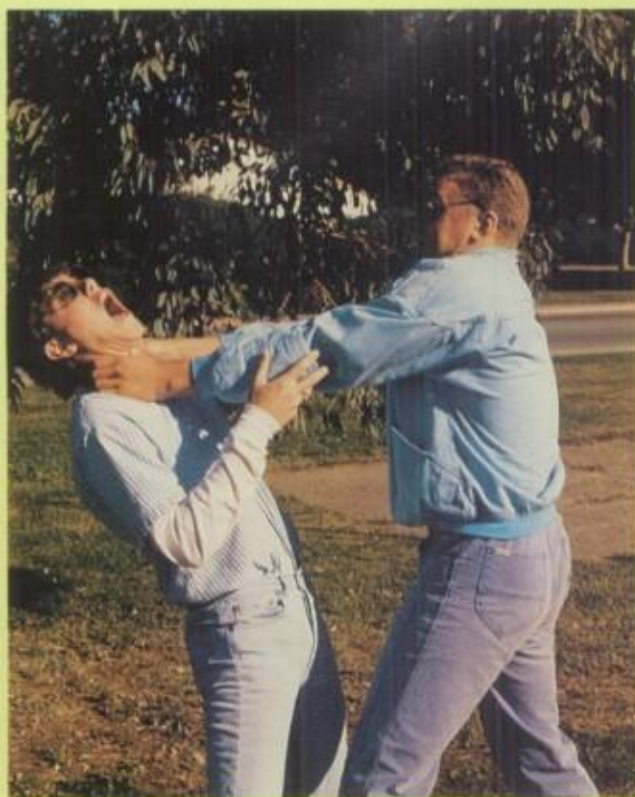

Sarah Schwab and Susan Ross show off their new dance called the "Monkey."

Maia Neilson teaches Steph Greer and Karen Tuckness the chorus line kicks.

"It's only a joke Kirk."

Julie Wiener and her friend are talking the latest gossip.

WHEN CLASS IS OUT

Throughout the year, many of us faced hard times and experienced many problems. Our school books never helped, but our friends did.

Friends are people who are there when you need them, and who are always willing to give their advice.

Most people look forward to going to school just to see their friends, and the school work comes second. You can never have enough friends, but you always have enough school work.

Senior Dennis Ross said, "I think of school as a social outlet, and if my friends weren't there, I wouldn't be there."

Junior Anne Jenkins said, "What is school without friends?"

When the school year is over, everybody likes to think back on all the memories that they had. Generally everybody's past experiences had at least one thing in common - they all included their friends.

Senior Rick Edge said, "Friends come in and out of your life like waiters in a restaurant."

What would lunch and brunch be like without your friends? Can you imagine sitting and talking by yourself, or to yourself everyday?

"Friends are people you can get in and out of trouble with," said senior Greg Hague.

Friends like to tell stories, and share experiences. Some like to compete and see who has done more.

Friends are people you can borrow homework from, borrow food from, and borrow money from.

Freshman Tracey Thomas said, "My friends are the best. I don't know what I'd do without them."

Throughout the year, through thick and thin, our friends were always there.
- Jeff Mirrione

Jennifer Ferguson and Jody Churchill show their true friendship.

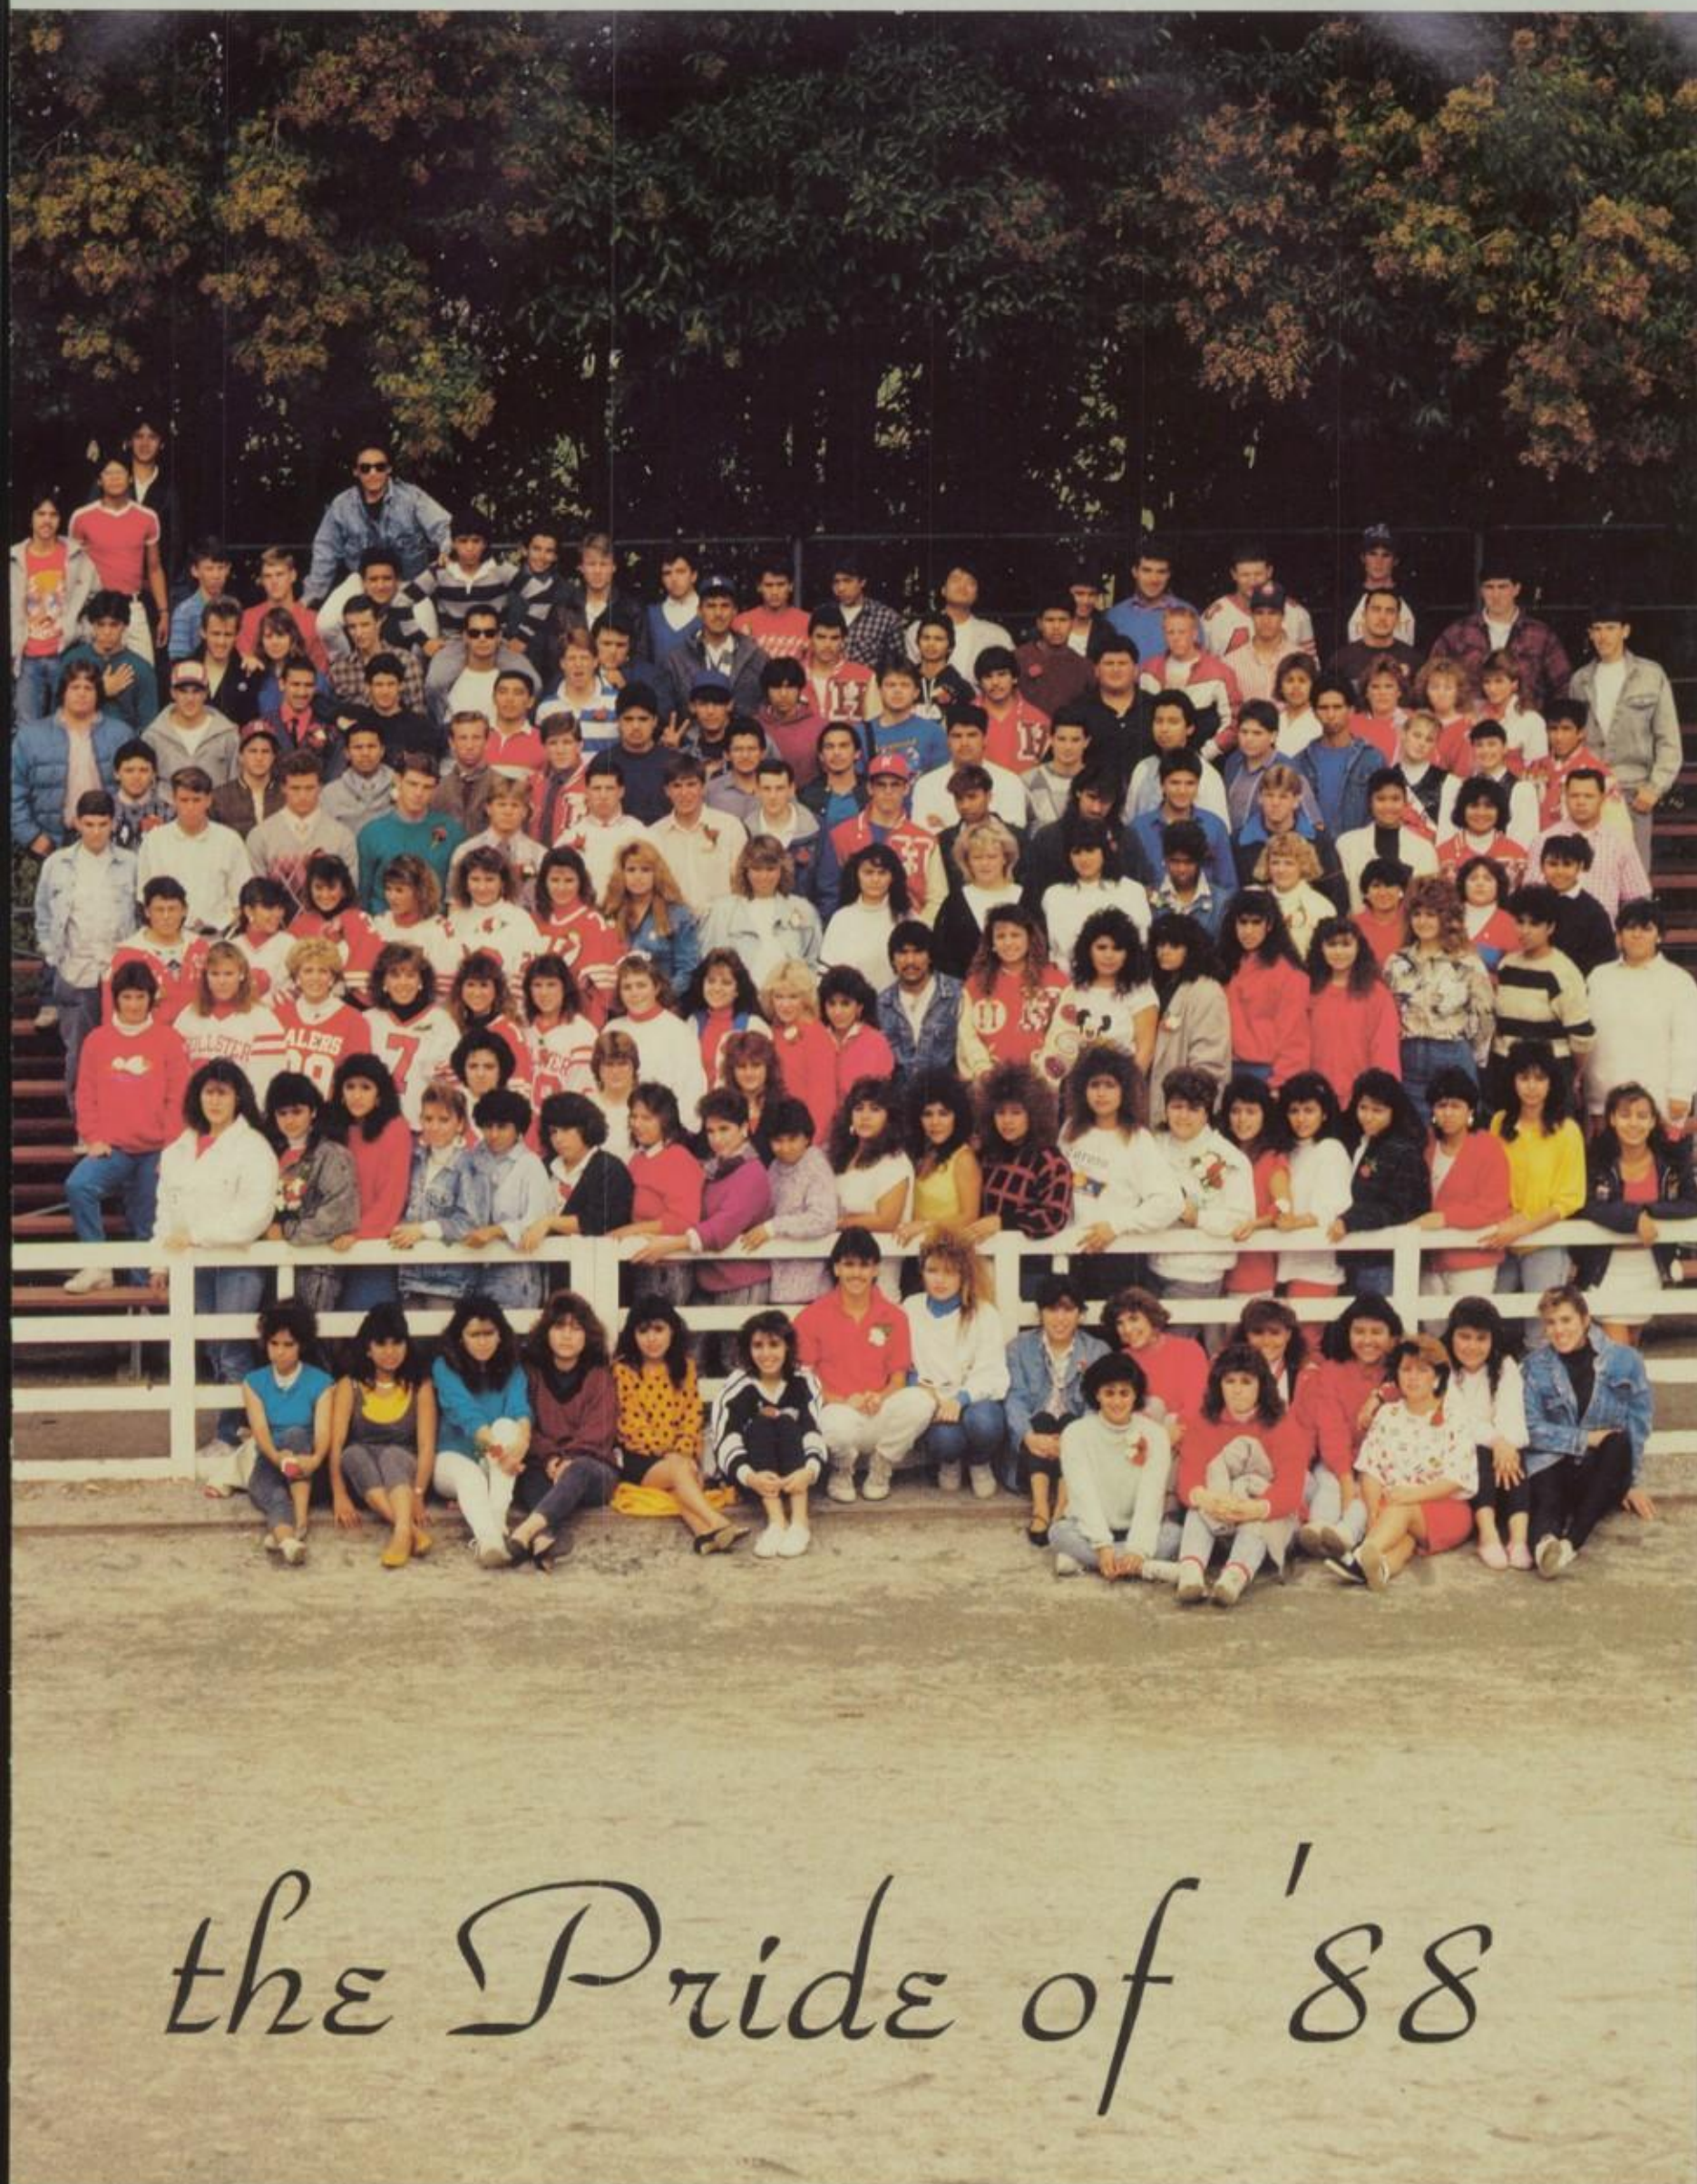

"Out of the darkness and into the light."

Tanya Bettencourt, Elena Ayala, Dana Rodrigues and Cristi Valdez "aren't they cute."

And here stands

the Pride of '88

We've done it! The class of 1988 made it through the four years of high school and is ready for more.

Remember when you first caught reality to what high school was like when you showed up to school that first day with your campus map and G.I. Joe lunch pail?

Remember when you could get away with anything just because of innocence, or just cry your way out of a heap of trouble?

Boy, haven't things changed. As a senior if you wanted to get out of trouble you had to have a legitimate excuse or be a darn good B.S. artist.

During my four year sentence I found it harder and harder to get away with anything.

"When I was a freshman, I found out things were very hard, but I enjoyed meeting all the new people," said Jen Galindo on reminiscing about her freshman year.

"I was the oldest on at my old school, and then all of the sudden I was the youngest," said Benedicte Borge on her 7th grade in junior high school in Norway.

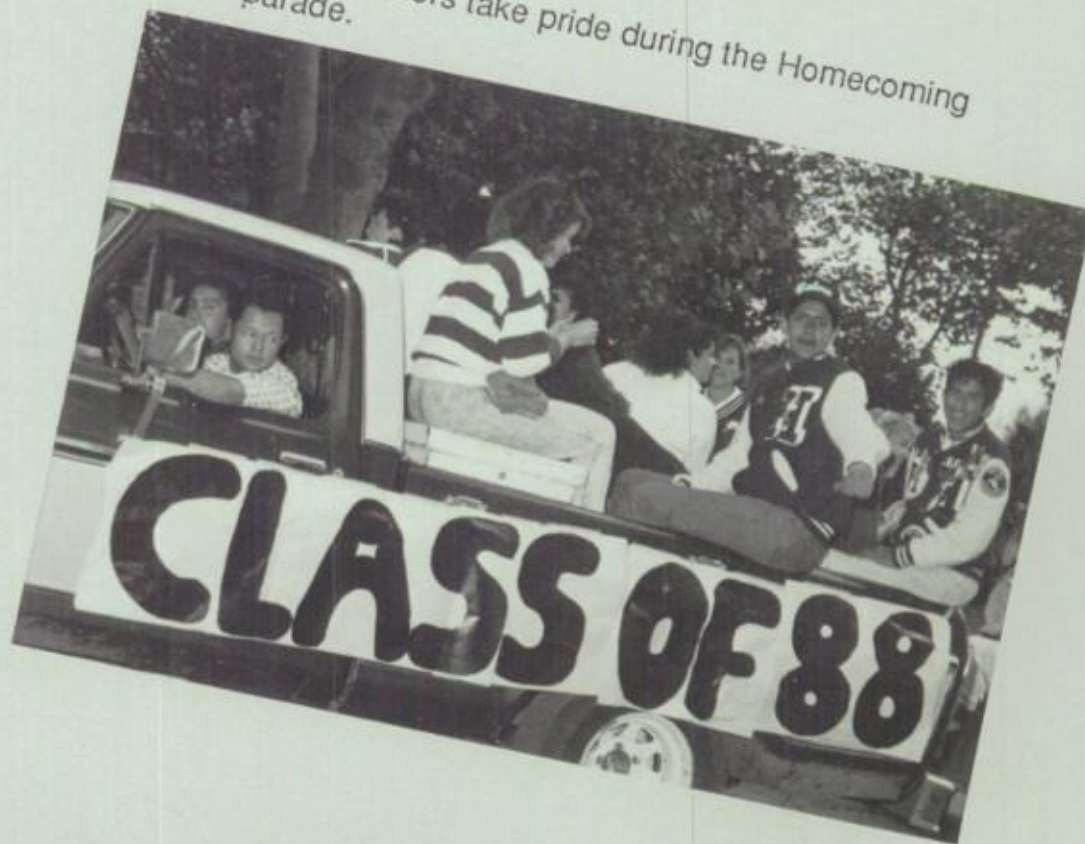

Well, some of you are in it now, others are long past, but there is one thing obvious. The freshman year will never be forgotten - come to think of it, neither will the sophomore, junior or senior.

Looking on.....

"So what do you plan on doing after graduation?" I'm sure many seniors ran into that question at one time or another. Well what were the plans for the graduating class of '88?

Many seniors looked ahead to more education. Maybe getting into Harvard, UCLA, or Fresno State. For them they'll start all over again as under classmen.

On the other hand there are those who planned to relax, be out of school for a while. Some planned to get a job, stick around and become established. Maybe within time, they will think about going back to school.

It's a BIG world out there and in many ways they're ready. So watch out world San Benito's Class of "88" is on the LOOSE!!!!

What is a Baler?

Let's ponder the thought of a BALER. What is a BALER? Is it a memory, or maybe to us SENIORS it's a forgotten symbol of San Benito High? What does this BALER symbolize? Is it how we represent ourselves against our rivals? Or is it simply supporting the home team with our proud BALER spirit?

So maybe you can say the BALER is more of a sense of pride rather than a mascot running around the sidelines.

No matter what the BALER really symbolizes to you, it has played a major role for us in growing up. In our hearts we will always cherish the mighty BALER - The Class of "88." We made it Great!!

A FRIENDLY WORD

High school has got to be the most trying times of any teenagers life. It sometimes seems that everything that could possible go wrong does.

But some students, actually seem to enjoy high school.

If you really examine what high school is all about, it really isn't that bad.

High school should be fun, because it's what you make of it, for better or worse.

Being a senior, I know from experience that parents, homework, and teachers can make things more confusing than they already are.

A quote from Mr. Petersen seems to say it all, "You are the master of your own destiny." I honestly think that is true.

For all of you who still have some high school to attend, here is a little saying that someone told me once. "When you feel like you are at the end of your rope, make sure you tie a knot and try to hang on." Remember, things do improve.

"Hang in there!"

Sound of music

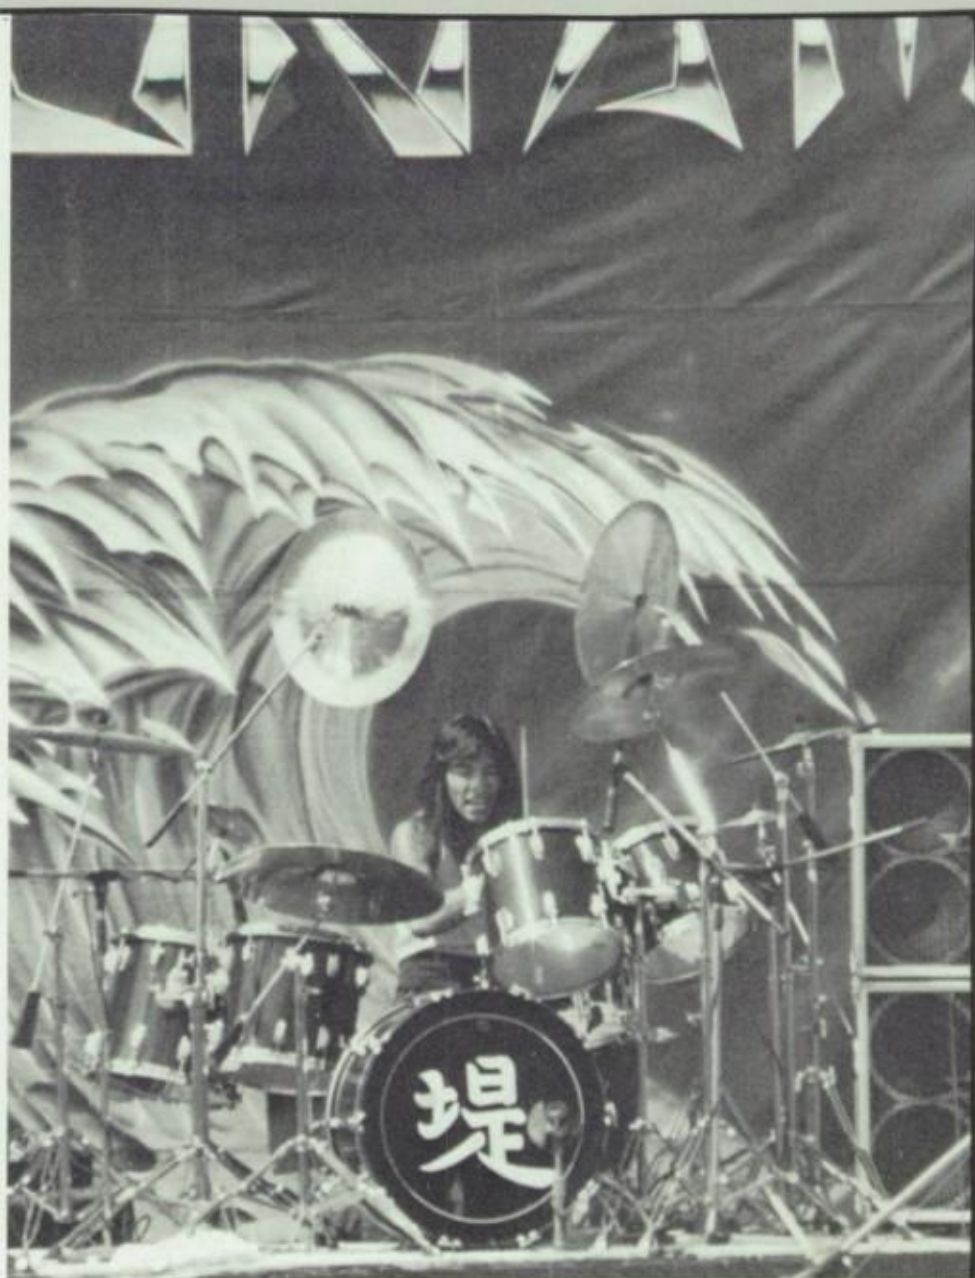

As far as the 1987-1988 school year goes, listening to music was one of the favorite pastimes of San Benito High students. All the way from the moving vocals of Bono from U2 to the yellow and black attack of Stryper, students shared all different kinds of music with their friends.

Many of the more popular groups such as Whitesnake, Cure, U2, and Stryper performed around the San Francisco Bay Area. And many students had the opportunity to see them live. Those who were fortunate to see U2 at the Oakland Coliseum claimed it was the best. Junior Kristy Patterson exclaimed, "It was totally awesome. Bono is the ultimate!"

Groups like U2 and Depeche Mode were popular for the punk-rock fans. But for the fans who prefer the heavier style of music, Stryper and Whitesnake were it. "Stryper rocked the house, it was the best I've seen," said the ultimate "sweet-man", senior Damon Arnett. "Oz Fox and Robert Sweet's solos were incredible. The opening acts were ok, but Stryper was immaculate!"

Different sounds of music had filtered throughout the San Benito High campus and all of the different varieties were shared by many.

Exploring a New World

Hi! As some of you know my name is Benedicte and I'm going to tell you a little about the differences between my country, which is Norway, and the USA.

The American school system is a lot different than what I'm used to.

We quit high school after the ninth grade and after that we don't have to continue with school, but most people do because they plan to attend college.

We don't have any campus supervisors so we can leave school during break time, which is longer than here.

In some cases I would say that American school system is a little better than ours. You have a lot of opportunities after school with sports, rally clubs, and driving.

In Norway we have to pay a lot money to attend these things.

Something which shocked and maybe made me angry about the school here was that I had to do my homework, and the rules are very strict, but after a while I got used to it and realized that I really liked it.

The climate over here is also very different. I was used to very cold winters with lots of snow and very green summers; so it was a kind of shock when I found out that you have terrific weather almost the entire year.

P.S. I didn't even mind the rain.

I'm grateful that my host family survived with me a whole year.

On Your Own

With the year completed, we can't stop thinking of all the new experiences that await us in college.

By this time we have been accepted to the college of our choice, and are looking forward to the next four years of our life. Facing new challenges and beginning to prepare for our career choice.

One of the biggest adjustments is the move. You may be planning to move away from home, on our own, scared maybe? Maybe you're one of the lucky ones, you have a friend that is going to the same college. Or maybe you're not so lucky, you're the only person that is attending the college of your choice from your high school. What does this mean with more than 10,000 people going to the same college? Not much!

As the adjustment sets in, you discover that college is great. New friends, teachers, and classes make the move all seem worth it!

So chase your dream - don't hold back. Before you know it, you'll be on your own, and loving every minute of it.

CARS, CARS, CARS!

Throughout the school year, at one time or another everyone has complained about the parking problem. And why was there such a problem? Cars! Cars! and more cars!!

As far as vehicles go, this was a real colorful year. There was some serious speedsters, lowered trucks, scooters and Hollister High even bore some convertibles.

"My car will burn circles around those little rice patties," said senior James Madison about his '69 El Camino vs. imports.

Senior David Somovia simply said, "It's desirable," about his '86 Chevy truck.

Some people spend a lot of time and money on making their vehicle look and perform it's best while others kept a grasp on the general idea of all cars.

"It gets me around, but I want a new one," said senior Michele Read on her '76 Chevy.

"My little baby gets me and Moe where we want to go," stated senior Darrin Howlett on his Honda Civic CVCC.

A couple of the main attractions during the 87-88 Hollister High year was the lowered truck and the infamous convertible.

"I love my car. It's fun to go to the beach in. My car takes me everywhere. Gas doesn't last long but it's fun, fun, fun." replied junior Alicia Townsend about her '86 Mustang LX.

Cars were definitely a major part of our lives and for many of us, our car represented us and our style. To all of you who one, keep on cruizin'.

Baler Lingo

Sometimes the way people talk says a lot about them. Some sound as if they were raised in the deep Bronx, and others sound as if they read the dictionary for pleasure. One of the neatest things about the human language is the variety. There is never a dull moment with all the different personalities being expressed through careful selected words.

With the days of groovy and "But gee guys" over something new had to set in. Something that fits the times. Words that show the overall feelings of the age.

Words like "radical" and "awesome" were last year.

This year phrases like "ya it is, thought it wouldn't be?" and "Hey dude, what's all that toe jab in your nose?"

No matter what style of vocabulary you use, it will be another word in the bucket of variety.

Don Gonzales, Joanne Tambo, and Christine Silva demonstrate the latest in "Baler Lingo."

1988 Seniors Rule 1988

It is really hard to sum up the past four years. So much has happened in our lives.

The Class of "88." This statement for all graduates stimulated an immediate flow of emotions. Some were good and some bad.

As senior Jessica Del la Cruz reveals, friends are what it's all about. Friends are what made the years so special. Jessica said, "I'll never forget my closest friends. They made my senior year memorable."

The biggest reason for bad feelings was leaving. After four years with the same friends, classes, and school you get use to it.

This year's senior class seemed to "stick" together more than usual. The thought was known from the beginning that we weren't going to be together after this year.

John Ament, our senior class president, really tried to keep us all together. He got a trip to Mexico set up and did a lot for the class as a whole.

So, when we all look back on our years in high school, we will all feel good. Knowing that we all had fun and a great graduating class.

A journey of a champion

Gina Taliaferro
September 20, 1970
September 11, 1987

September 20, 1970 was one of the happiest days in Ginger and David Taliaferro's life. Their daughter Gina Marie was born. She was such a wonderful person who brought joy and comfort to all those she knew.

Gina had many loves in this world. Her family, friends, animals, flowers, and teddy bears, just to name a few.

She was a true champion to the end. Her countless trophies, ribbons, and buckles show us that. But those aren't the only things that remind us of what a champ she really was. When you take time to realize the little things she did and how she cared so much for everyone, the pain of her memory only begins. No one can or will forget the beauty, laughs, and tears she brought.

On September 11, 1987 Gina was killed in a car accident. The emptiness of that thought will be felt in the hearts of many. If any sort of comforting thought can be found it is that she is in better hands now.

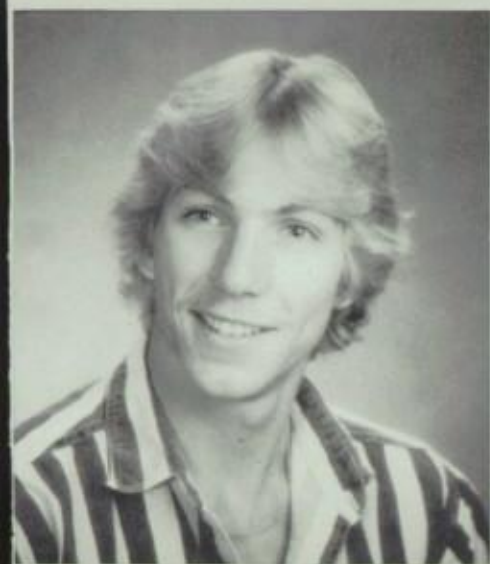

Gina never got a chance to say "Good bye" to all the people she loved, she never would have wanted to.

Gina left behind not only her parents, but also her little sister, Lacey, a little brother, Nicolaus and many unanswered questions.

For her family and her friends, try to laugh and not cry when you think of Gina, she would have wanted it that way. It's been said that the times we all shared with Gina is nothing compared to the time we will share with her.

We love you, Gina.

Campus crew cuts down on cutting

The campus supervisors really cracked down on cutting this year. With experienced personnel patrolling the campus, cutting was very hard to do, and was seldom done.

One day, Kirk Ward and I decided to cut class because we had a test in Hungarian Pipe Making and we forgot our tools.

It was a thrilling experience trying not to get caught by "Iron Grip" Pete - the campus supervisor.

We thought we'd make it, but in the end we got caught.

The pictures tell the story...

Juniors! The anticipation for seniority set in when the first bell rang. The Junior year of high school is noted as one of the most vital of the four.

It is a time to be involved in as many clubs and organizations as possible. Your academic performance, your determination, your responsibility were a prerequisite for handling your third year of High School.

The class as a whole was quite small. It contained 177 males, and 214 females.

The Juniors were led by Class Officers: President- Vicky Valdez, Vice-President- Tony Boch, and Treasurer- Chris Lawson.

The Class Council consisted of Martha Cervantes, Fran Hernandez, Cheryle Magno, and Melisa Vasquez.

The Junior class advisors were Mr. Bradley and Mr. Robledo.

When asked how this year went, Junior, Kim Duffield said, "This year was really good because I knew a lot of people and I became more involved."

Our Senior year will soon be upon us; all of our goals are within reach. All of the hard work, the pains, and the gains endured throughout the last three years will now seem worth the effort.

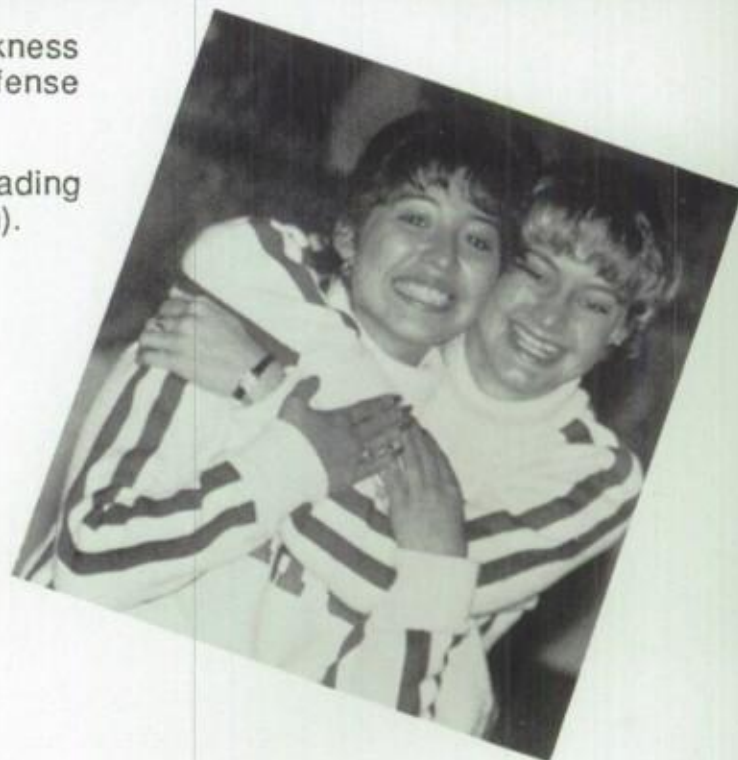

The Juniors, the Class of 89' are now one step away from their long awaited senior year!

Behind closed doors

Kirk Ward: "Being the animal he is" tries to escape from closed

Closed campus or open campus? As we all know that question has arisen many times during the school year. On October 19th, 1987 a student newsletter had been sent out to all 2nd period classes, on behalf of Student Council and Student Congress, giving reasons for the closed campus.

Some students feel that closed campus is a better concept because it tends to keep outside wanderers out of H.H.S. which sometimes causes fights.

Our community seems to feel more at ease with the closed campus. They feel that with a closed campus it reduces the risk of vandalism of homes and the misbehavior of students at public places. It also has reduced the drug problem.

Make today count

Editor's note: The following story was written by Sandra Herzog just prior to her death in May, 1987. Her loss will be felt by all.

Most people drift through life without really thinking about where they fit in. They may know as teenagers what they want to do for a career, but they don't stop to consider what type of person they want to be. Goals are too often related to money or possessions. Over a lifetime, these things don't really matter.

I was like most people until two years ago. At fourteen, school and grades and new clothes were my main interests. Then I learned I had cancer. Overnight my whole world changed. At first, I was too busy feeling sorry for myself to think about anything else. This is normal. As time passed, and I figured out I wasn't going to die; at least not right away, I found myself examining my priorities. It's hard to think about the latest fashions when you are totally bald! School is important because it gives you skills in communication and the opportunity to establish friendships, but does it really make you a nicer person if you get good grades? What good is studying until the wee hours if you don't have time to bask in the sunshine or walk through dew covered grass? When you do something nice for someone, do they really care what designer labels are on your clothes?

When I realized that my life may not be as long as most, I decided to make the most of every single day I had. Every day I try to find a "happy thought." It may be something nice someone did for me, or a compliment, or a beautiful flower. The more I practice, the easier it is to find "happy thoughts." Now my days are filled with them.

Every day I try to do at least three nice things for others. It may be volunteering at the hospital, or helping my little brother with his homework, or cleaning the kitchen for my mother without being asked. It makes me feel good about myself and others appreciate my thoughtfulness.

Every day I look for beauty. Sometimes it is as spectacular as a rainbow, and sometimes it is as simple as the pattern of raindrops as they gather in the needles of our pine trees. Beauty is all around us, but sometimes you have to look for it to really see it.

Notice the smells around you. Each season has its own peculiar combination, but every day is different. Have you ever noticed how the air smells after the first rain? How about the smell of fresh baked bread? The scent of new mown grass and freshly turned earth? Or a crackling log on a campfire? Or sizzling bacon?

Sounds, too can be appreciated. Even if you live next to a factory or a highway, there are birds singing and wind sighing. Man-made noises such as the chorus of lawnmowers in a suburban neighborhood on a Saturday morning can evoke special images.

3 down 1 to go

So is that a familiar saying or what? I am sure every junior has said it at least once. The anticipation of the senior year being "just in sight."

Elena Ayala had a few words of wisdom: "One more year and we are out of here and on to our lives!" That was the feeling among juniors.

The next year brings so much fun and happiness that most juniors can hardly wait.

Most juniors have some worried feelings about the security of their forever faithful upperclassmen. They won't be there next year. Juniors will then be the upper classmen.

This was expressed by junior Audra Vessey. "I am really going to miss all my friends, that are now seniors, next year," she said.

That old worry won't stop them though. Cristi Valdez, junior, says next year's senior class will promise to be the "best ever."

So as you can see anticipation will pay off with a great "89" graduation class.

Mook's fabulous nook

The Student Store, room number 144 at San Benito Joint Union High School. The red and white room that consisted of red and white t-shirts, sweatshirts and many other souvenirs, where students could go to purchase these items.

Ms. Mook who has been students activity director for the past two years said the store has a success, and she shared some of her insights about the store.

Ms. Mook said the store got started after a trip back from a leadership camp. She said she learned that many school had a student store, and that SBJUHS were one of the few who did not.

So, Student Council went to work on a more advanced project of opening a student store.

Ms. Mook said that the store was a type of work room for the different clubs here on campus.

For example, when they needed to make posters the Student Store had the room and supplies that the clubs needed.

She said, the store was well supported, and also said, "There is a need for this type of thing!"

She has been a success herself and has done a terrific job. She is known for her motivation and for motivating students toward a more positive and active school atmosphere.

Hollister High School thanks you, Ms. Mook, for your support and superb leadership.

As usual Miss Mook conducts business as usual.

She's got legs

Everyone has heard the song-right? Well look around. What did you see? The mini-skirt. That was the craze this year.

Nearly everyone had one. Whether it was Guess, Forenza, Esprit or some other "IN" fashion. Like Casey Pence, senior said, "if you got em flaunt em." Legs that is!

The mini-skirt has had a very long-lived popularity. It came about in the 60's. It was right up there in the womens' movement with the burning of bras.

Though its look and fabric had changed. It still had its basic ingredient of SHORT and SEXY.

Paul Mariotini said, "If they are on the right girl they look real hot!" Mr. Robledo even had a comment on the subject. "It is like I am back in college. The style is back and I think it is great we are going back to the good old days!"

Senior Deena Maderis pointed out a very common complaint. Some people should not wear them so short."

As you can see, whether they were short, long, tight, or baggie, everyone loved them and was happy they were back.

Rosalie Serrano tries a new technique for fly swatting.

Sophomores! Getting bigger and better each year. This year there were 196 females and 224 males. This was their second stage in High School.

You may ask, "What is a Sophomore?" Well - Sophomores are just like any normal class in High School. They should have finally learned the ropes around school, and met more people. This was the time to get more involved in student activities. They're moving up quickly and as soon as you know it, they'll be an upper classman.

Sophomores have finally had the ability to be brave and they have enough confidence in themselves to make them feel comfortable. But if they go through the stage of being depressed or down on themselves, all they had to do to cheer them up was think of the Freshmen.

As Andy Ament said, "For some people, once a Freshmen, always a Freshmen."

The Student Body Government was also important. It consisted of the following: President- Andy Ament, Vice-President- Amy Churchill, Secretary- Michelle O'Brien, and Treasurer- Laura Foote. They helped make their school year great.

Caution: Balers on the loose

As the clock nears 2:19, San Benito High's students were starting to plan their day's events after school hours. At this time, homework was the last thing on their minds.

Other than the typical routines such as doing homework or sleeping, the students had different activities in mind.

When asked what she did after school, junior, Mary Ann Madayag said, "Most of the time I cruised around with my friends and got crazy on punk music."

Senior Steve Andrade believed in spending time with friends, as he was quoted as saying, "Me, Anthony, Woody, and Art would go home and play a challenging game of Monopoly."

Some Balers lived the working life. Junior Kristie Paterson enjoyed spending her time working at Dona Esther's Restaurant. Kim Kraus, a junior, who worked at the Tres Pinos Inn claimed, "It's good to have that extra spending money especially to go shopping."

For those who dare to be noticed, they go out of their way to make themselves different. Senior Alex Lopez said, "I'd go bum around or see tortillas in front of the Showcase Theater."

So as you can see, different Hollister High students had different activities scheduled after the clock struck 2:19.

-Melissa Vasquez

All-aboard

Bleached blond hair, casual clothes, high top sneakers and a variety of skateboards. All these and many more are known to be as trademarks of skaters. This year a skating trend swept through San Benito High seemingly overnight. More and more students began showing these unique qualities, which set them apart from the everyday teenager.

Veteran skaters who were mocked at in past years, now enjoy the publicity and credit for being the first to venture forth.

Sophomore Jamie Fike said in a stylish manner, "I skate to create."

said, "The best thing about skating, is the feeling of freedom, when competing in contests, not to mention the fun I have doing it!"

For some students, skating became more than a hobby, but an obsession. Both Jamie and Mike said that they spent up to four hours daily skating and any other free time they had. Though skating can be time consuming, the payoff during competition made every minute practiced, worthwhile.

For the right job, you need the right equipment. Skateboards and accessories can cost a skater a pretty penny, but skaters have a way of slipping by inflation.

Senior Mike Sullivan defies gravity.

Sophomore Shawn Eccles said, "I don't have to spend too much money on skates (skateboards). I usually got good deals on skates and sometimes win accessories in competition." That's how most skaters got around the high cost of their skating budgets.

Kick back and relax'

Ahhh...lunch time. Finally you could kickback, relax and forget about the tedious school work for a while.

What was the scene for lunch at San Benito High? Having a closed campus didn't give the students any choice but to try and make the most of it on school-grounds.

How did students spend their only time to goof around and be crazy? Let's check it out....

Sophomores Tricia Wolfsmith and Tiffany Silva (picture above) were some of the many students who seemed to enjoy spending their lunch under the sun.

Taking one look at the girls P.E. field we see many students who liked to sit around, eat their lunch and chat with their friends. After all, lunch was the only time we got to socialize and catch up on what was happening.

Besides the girls P.E. field, you also found students in the cafeteria, the patio area and at the front of the school.

Other students liked to roam around the campus and scope things out (check things out).

In anyway you spent lunch it was the best part of the whole school day!

In memory of Kenny: to one of the "smallest," big persons we have ever known

This story is written in love and honor for one of the "smallest, big-persons" we have ever known, Kenny Fehlman.

Kenny was extremely well-liked by everyone who knew him. Those who were fortunate to be his friend will never forget him.

Those who didn't know Kenny take my word that he was a person who lived by high-standards.

He was also an extremely talented and diverse individual.

Kenny loved the sport of rodeo and could rope and ride with the best.

He was also an outstanding wrestler. our entire team felt his absence this year.

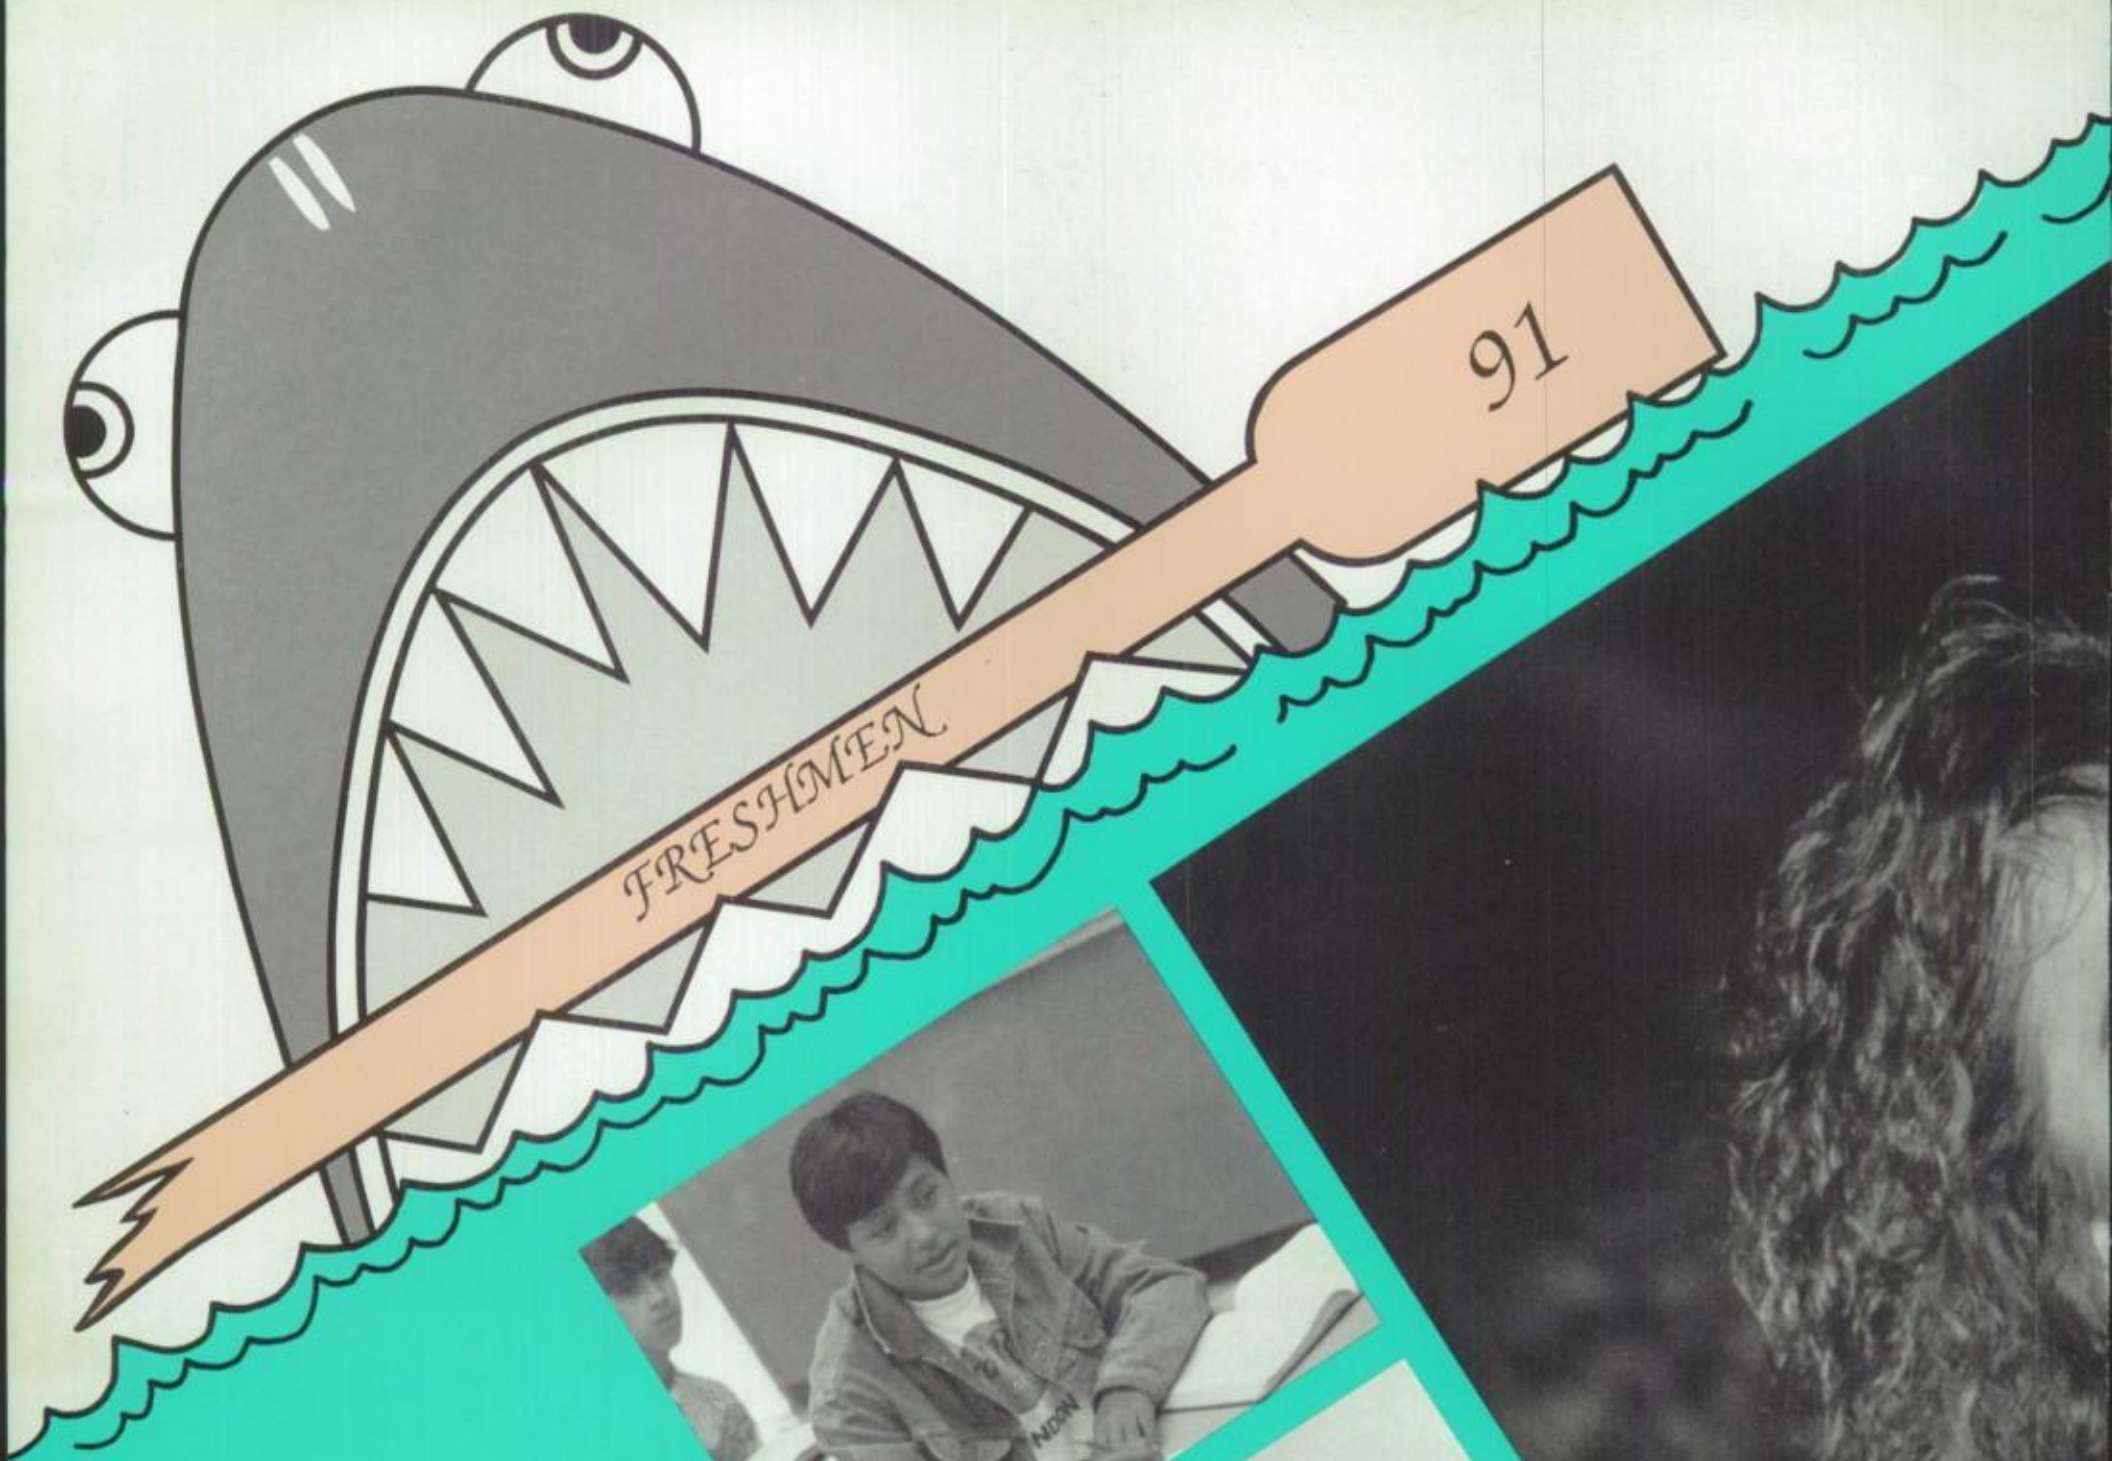

Kenny was the type of person who you felt comfortable being around. He had the ability to make you laugh no matter what was going on. He'd go out of his way to make you smile.

Another quality Kenny had was his outgoing personality. He was always interested in meeting new people. "Bashful" was not a word in his vocabulary.

Finally, it can be said without hesitation that Kenny went after what he wanted. Incredibly, most of the time he got what he wanted.

This is what I think Kenny would want us to do. Go out and live a full and enjoyable life!

A fresh start

Freshmen! The 1987-88 Freshmen class was undoubtedly the largest class San Benito High has ever seen. With 273 girls and 291 boys, there was a total of 564 Freshmen on our campus this year.

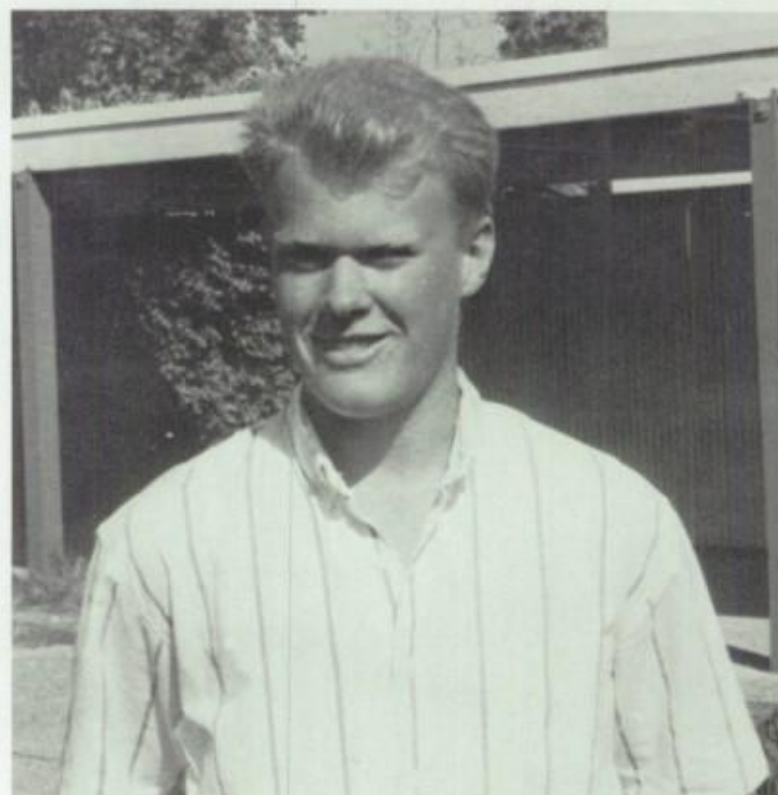

This year's Freshmen class officers were as follows: President- Jeff McNown, Vice-President- Mark Wright, Treasurer- Jason Hagins, Publicity- Nick Lust and Piper Bravo, Secretary- Becky Brockbank, and Commissioner- Steve Goularte. These are just some of the people who made the year so fun for the Freshmen.

Like every other year at our school, the Freshmen have suffered the most harrassment and have been stereotyped in many ways.

It's not easy being a Freshmen, starting at the bottom of the ladder to seniority; but with Freshmen like Zeph Thorning, who when asked how he liked being a Freshmen, replied "It's been a lot of fun." Another Freshmen, P.J. Breen, answered, "It's been great." With all their positive attitudes, the class of '91 proved to be a very spirited class that had a lot of fun times throughout the year.

Life of a lefty

The world was set up for right handers. Right, or was it left? Left handed people have many problems that they face every day.

Imagine going through a day being left handed. It seems that everything is made for right handers.

Try cutting out a piece of paper with some scissors. Seems easy. If your left handed it's not.

Sports equipment is made for right handers, "You just have to adjust to it," says Joe Ravizza the left handed guard for the boys varsity basketball team.

The dilemma will always be, it seems.

Hop and hobble

When one leg is out of order, life can be tough. Crutches offer some help, but can also increase the problems. When there is a group of people, it is not always easy to get past them. Since you must hold these crutches, how are you supposed to hold your books?

Going to the bathroom is another everyday task which is also complicated.

Although there are these negative aspects that seem to hold you back, there are also positive ones. For example, have you ever had all the attention in your group because of a broken bone? It's not the easiest way to get it, but it is attention!

Moreover, have you ever had a pretty girl help you with your things? Also you always have a good excuse when you're tardy to class. So when you think about it being on crutches is not all that bad, it just depends on the way you look at it.

A dateless Friday night

"What are you going to do tonight, Derrik?"

"Oh, Erika and I are going to go to Moonlighting and then to dinner in Monterey."

"Why, what are you going to do tonight, Jeremy?"

"Ah, well... I... um... ah.. I'm gonna stay home with Joanie and my grandma and play the advanced version of Candyland."

"Who's Joanie?"

"Um, ah...well...ah...my dad's dalmation."

Staying home on Friday nights is a ritual for our freshmen.

Here is a list of options I have provided for you.

A. Play charades (no one will ever guess what you are).

B. Rent the movie "The Lonely Guy" starring Steve Martin.

C. Clean the cat box

D. Try making taffy with grandma.

E. Take a bath with everybody's friend Mr. Bubble.

F. Catch the latest version of Mutual Of Omaha's Wild Kingdom.

If this situation ever pertains to you, refer to "Lex Hydenhimer's Guide To A Dateless Friday Night."

Darn those dilemmas

The day was bright and sunny, but it was raining in the freshman's head.

"Where's room 204?" the freshman asked.

"Oh, it's out behind the football stadium," answered a senior.

After walking behind the stadium, the freshman came back.

"Hey do you have your rally pass?" asked another senior.

"Well, ah, I..."

"You need one to attend the rally," said the senior.

"Well, how much are they?"

"They're only $6.50."

As we was trying to open his locker, a group of seniors picked him up and threw him in a garbage can. After picking banana peels out of his hair, he went to class.

This story may be exaggerated, but the story is the same; freshmen go through quite a bit, but it only lasts a year. Then it's their chance to turn the tables on the incoming freshmen.

-Jeff Mirrione

Juniors, Joe Hicks and Mark Peterlin carry on the tradition of trashing freshmen.

Double take

What about them twins? No, we're not talking about baseball. We're talking about identical twins.

Have you ever looked in the mirror for a long period of time and you get sick and tired of seeing yourself then just stop and think how identical twins feel.

Talking to Laura and Lisa Villa, they gave some of their feelings. Laura (the oldest) has a different idea of a guy for her is a brainy type of a guy and for Lisa (the youngest) she likes the average kind of guys.

They changed class for a day the teachers couldn't tell who was who.

Laura said, "That it bothers me when people says you're the smart one aren't you."

Lisa stated, "It's fun being a twin because your each other 's best friend and can depend on each other."

Even being twins there are no two alike.

Student Council

Stephanie Gulla reads over her agenda (below).

This year the Student Council added new positions to their group. California Association of Student Councils representative Anne Popowski served as a liaison between CASC and the Student Council, and Chairman of the Student Congress Todd Silva keeps the Council and the Congress informed of each other's goals and progress.

Among the many projects initiated by the Student Council last year were the can recycling contest, the Annual Talent Shows, Spring Arts Week, Bingo concessions to raise funds, the Leadership slumber party, and the Valentine truffle and card sale. They also arranged the Secret Pals, with which they had hoped to focus more attention on our faculty.

The Student Council remains an active part of the student body of Hollister High. Thanks, Student Council, for helping to make the changes that count!

Taking charge with Jr. State

Junior State was a fun-filled debating organization with many topics such as: abortion, nuclear weapons, and capital punishment, just to name a few.

There were many conferences held in the 1987-88 school year. Members attended places such as San Francisco, Sacramento, and Stanford.

The San Francisco and Sacramento trip both took place during a weekend. The students stayed at the luxurious Hilton Hotel.

Members of Junior State had plenty of fun and learned a lot.

It was a time to meet new people and also gain interest in political subjects.

As Kim Kraus stated, "It's really fun going to conferences and meeting new people."

Amy Breen added, "It's an enriching experience visiting and being involved in the political atmosphere."

Junior State was a great way to show your interest and enthusiasm in politics.

Close-Up students take time out in Washington to pose for the photographer.

This year Close-Up had many members. The officers were: Jody Hansen, President; Kristy Seilby, Vice-President; Stephanie Gulla, Secretary; and Christine Silva, Treasurer.

With many fund raising activities such as the car wash, an Enchilada Sale, a dance, a flower sale, and selling games, many students were able to raise money for the annual trip to Washington.

This year 28 students packed their bags and headed off to Washington D.C. for a week of sight seeing tours, seminars and workshops.

Each student had a chance to experience how our government is run by visiting places such as the galleries in the Senate and House Chambers of the Capitol. We also got the chance to meet our Congressman Leon Panetta.

Cowboys round 'em up

San Benito High School students belong to District #4 of the California High School Rodeo Association. This is a totally self-supporting organization dedicated to furthering the sport of rodeo.

District #4 encompasses the area from King City to San Francisco and includes 65 members. These members participate in rodeos once a month from September to May accumulating points in their chosen events. The top three in each event qualify for Cow Palace in April and the top five in each event qualify for the California State Finals held in Quincy, California for one full week in June.

Local members this year were George Ford, Todd, Silva, Casey Barker, Rachael Johnston, Jeff Cabral, Brian Martin, Lisa French, Lavada Tibbitts, Linda Nidey, Kelly Branco, and Evon Johnsey.

Contestants demonstrated their skills in a wide array of rodeo events. They included: Saddle Bronc, Bareback, Bulls, Steer Wrestling, and Barrel Racing.

CSF:

Not just bookworms

This year's membership turnout for C.S.F. was so extraordinary that we had to raid a candy warehouse before Christmas vacation to sell enough candy to pay for our senior scholarships for participating members. (Just kidding!)

I almost forgot to tell you what C.S.F. is about. No, we're not in the burglary business! C.S.F. is better known as the California Scholarship Society whose goal is to foster the highest standards of academic success and participation in our school. What this means is that we care about what we're doing and are committed to excellence.

Our officers for this year include: Josef Meri, President; Tony Boch, Vice-President; Jennifer Daughenbaugh, Treasurer; Teresa Clark, Secretary; and our Sergeant-at-Arms, Ben Crick.

Our advisors for this year were Mrs. Anderson, Mr. Dilley, Mr. Keating and Mr. Echaore.

A big thanks goes to Mrs. Anderson, whose tireless efforts have made C.S.F. a spectacular organization.

One thing, I'm afraid we decided not to sell the "dreaded light bulb" this year. Maybe next year?

Exploring new horizons

Anybody with two neurons connected by a synapse knows that the Science Club was on the move. With events like observation trips to the Monterey Aquarium and Anchor Stein Brewery, the club enjoyed a scientific look of life.

Establishing an F.M. broadcasting radio station on campus was another feat Science Club was en route to for students during a designated time.

Another aspect of Science Club was writing college type essay papers on current science topics. The club also debated current topics.

The Science Club Officers were Insoo Hyun, President; Chris Lawson, Vice-President; Theresa Clark, Secretary; John Curry, Sergeant-at-Arms; and James Madison, Treasurer.

Leadership in action

What does one learn in Leadership class? They learn training skills, personal growth and development, communication values, time and stress management, project planning, and working on community service projects. The class also organizes most of the BLT's, and runs the student store.

Student Activities director, Katherine Mook, began the class in 1986-87, after taking students to California Association of Student-Councils (CASC). Superin-tendent Gregory Hearn then asked her to start the class.

"I was excited because I could use what I learned in Leadership camp," Mook said.

Leadership is a class worth five social science credits. This year it was held during fifth period, with its members altering between first and second lunch periods.

The class has no pre-requisite, but because of activities, only about 20 people are picked based on interest. To become involved, one must be in class, or attend camp in the summer.

Ms. Mook expects to continue the class next year, with two sections - beginning and advanced.

"Students get a unique opportunity to meet one another and become close friends in Leadership," said Ms. Mook.

Senior Kristi Seibly pretty well said everything about the class, "I think the Leadership class is terrific! Being in the class gives us all such a great opportunity to get involved in school and gain a lot of experience in so many different things. Plus that, the people in the class are the best."

Leadership does all activities, it is the manpower behind the school.

Block H

Block H is a club organized for all of those varsity hot shots that have worked hard to get that letter on their jackets.

That letter is no ordinary letter, it's a symbol of the superb athletic ability in the sport they have mastered.

Junior Kirk Ward said that being in Block H made him feel acknowledged for the good job he did in football.

Football is not the only sport in which to get a block. Basketball, wrestling, tennis, track and baseball are others.

Block H was advised by Coach Logue. The purpose of Block H was to get the athletes into total school participation and to help them plan their future and become better athletes.

This year the club sponsored a girls powder puff football game which was coached by several Block H members. Bad weather resulted in many of the team members not showing up, which resulted in a senior win.

Mr. Logue, the club's hard working advisor, organized many activities that brought pride back into wearing a lettermans jacket.

SMILES IN MANY LANGUAGES

Have you ever wondered what it's like to be in a totally different environment than your own? Well I'm sure that it can really make you feel stupid, lost, or even confused, especially if it's something you're not used to.

An easy way to experience all of these things would have been to join the Foreign Exchange Club. It's a club that gives any person a chance to meet the exchange student at school and learn something about cultures in other countries.

The club was full of activities during the 87-88 year. They had a flower sale during Halloween that gave them enough money to go on a trip to San Francisco. It was a night of fun and laughter.

Besides having just a trip to San Francisco, the club also makes a float each year for the Homecoming which usually does quite well in the competition. As usual, this club also has a potluck, that's always full of smiles and a lot of good food.

The club was always full of smiles and probably will be for a lifetime. As Vice-President Angela Jukes said, "It has been fun to watch the foreign exchange students experience life in the U.S. and to see the world through their eyes."

As for other exchange students here's what they think: Lene Mikkelsen from Denmark said, "I think that it's really great here and I was surprised to find America so different than what I thought. (Dynasty type, rich, etc...)"

So the next time you see an exchange student just give them a smile, because everyone smiles in the same language!

VICA

Industry's where it's at

Have you ever wanted to join a club of a different sort? A club that's non-academic or non-athletic? Well how about a club that lets you show off your industrial skills? If this is your case then VICA was the club for you in '88.

VICA stands for "Vocational Industrial Clubs of America," and was designed for students interested in the technical industry.

The club allowed students to compete in various competitions as well as the Vocational Skills Olympics, which really let them show off their skills. They also went on various tours of local industrial businesses.

Whether your thing was metals, drafting, woodshop, or automotive, you got your chance to show your stuff, as the club alternated its meeting spots among the various shops.

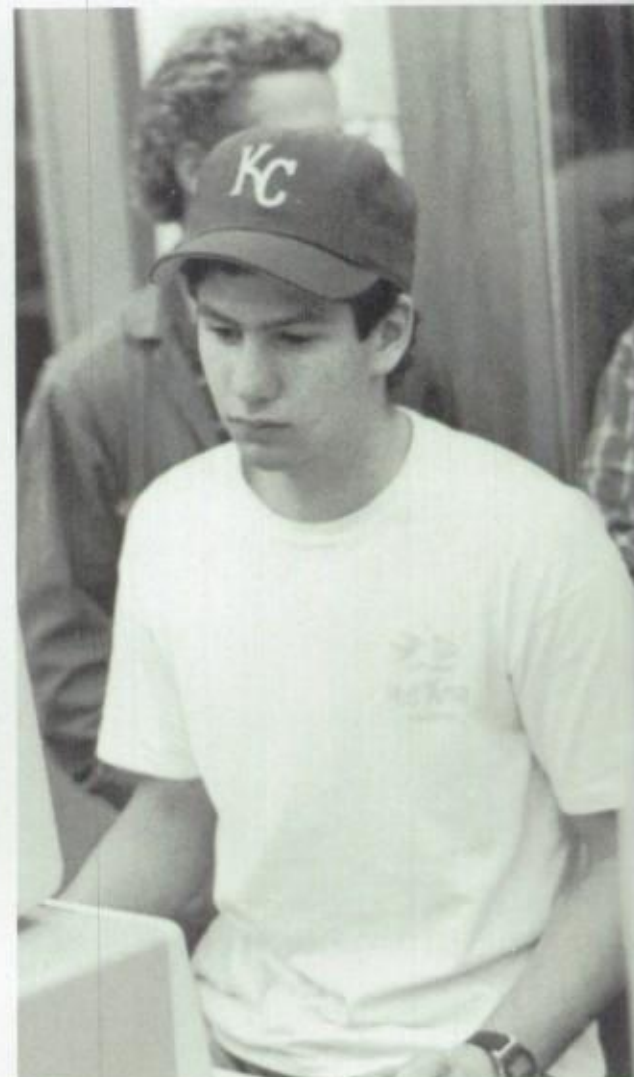

VICA welcomes and encourages any interested people to come and join the club next year. Cause if industry's your thing, VICA's the place to be!

Senior Brent Dekay shows intense concentration on the ball.

Tennis anyone?

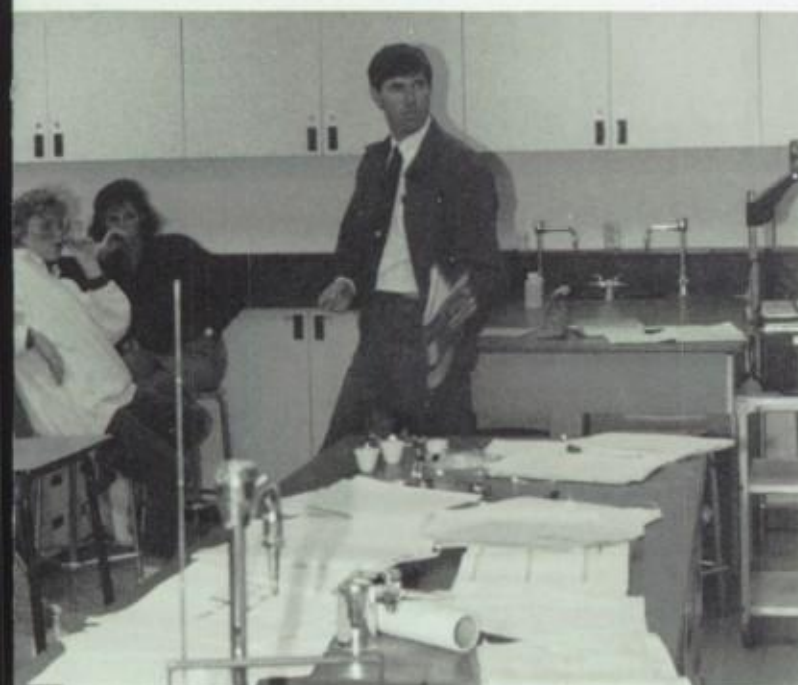

Tennis Club served up a winner. With events like a coed tennis tournament and establishing a clinic to teach Hollister High students to bring out the tennis bum in them.

Advisor David Bradley said, "It's a non-profit organization and a lot of fun."

Tennis Club members were plentiful and the year was fun. The officers were Anne Popowski and Chris Lawson, Presidents; and Katherine Silva and Kim Duffield, Secretaries.

Tournaments, clinics and lots of fun were the overall "Ace" for tennis club, a new organization with lots of potential.

La Raza Unida... Mecha Club Estudiantil

What is M.E.C.H.A.?

Movimiento means that the organization is dedicated to the movement to gain self determination for Hispanic people.

Estudiantil identifies the organization as a Hispanic student group.

The term Chicano is a statement of identification with Latino brothers and sisters.

Lastly, Latinos affirm that they are from Aztlán, currently the U.S. Southwest.

This year's Mecha Club joined with Club Estudiantil to form one big strong club. Together both clubs have accomplished many things. The advisors for the club are Mr. Caffiero and Mr. Ledesma. This year's club officers were Patty Garcia and Ramon Garcia, Presidents; Loretta Franco and Maria Gonzales, Vice-Presidents; Selena Sandoval, Secretary; Sylvia Flores, Treasurer; Jason Arballo and Yolanda Meza, Sergeant-at-Arms; and Jose Briones, Club Representative.

The club participated in a number of activities including visiting various colleges and universities. Attending many Chicano conferences that Mr. Caffiero organized such as Raza Day at San Jose State, Statewide Mecha Conference and the Chicano Youth Conference at Fresno State. In these conferences we not only had fun but also learned a lot from workshops ranging from "Chicanos in Politics" and drug abuse in bilingual education. We were encouraged to continue our education and to get to the top. The conferences were of great help to the students.

We helped start a new Mecha Club at San Andreas H.S.

We also started our own rap and tutoring groups.

For Christmas, the clubs along with the student council sold corsages.

SOCCER CLUB

Support is what it's all about

The purpose of the Soccer Club was to organize support for the soccer team in any manner possible in order to bolster spirit for the entire soccer program.

This year under the leadership of president Lisa Del Real, the club had several fund raisers and sponsored the annual Soccer Awards Banquet.

The officers were Lisa Del Real, President; Estella Lopez, Vice-President; Juan Ceja, Treasurer; and Jesus Solorio, Secretary.

The soccer club had a very successful year. Anyone interested is encouraged to come out next year!

Serving for success

Already in its second year of progress, the boys' Volleyball Club has jumped out to a strong start. With key players like seniors Todd Silva, Dennis Ross, and Joe Ravizza, experience seems to have paid off. There seemed to be a lot of height, ability, and most importantly, enthusiasm for the club.

Despite the absence of former advisor, Mr. Flessel, new club advisor, Ms. Wallen, seemed to have taken complete control. "This is the first time I have ever worked with guys and I'm excited about it," said Ms. Wallen. "Men's volleyball is an exciting game because of the quickness, timing, and overall athletic ability involved."

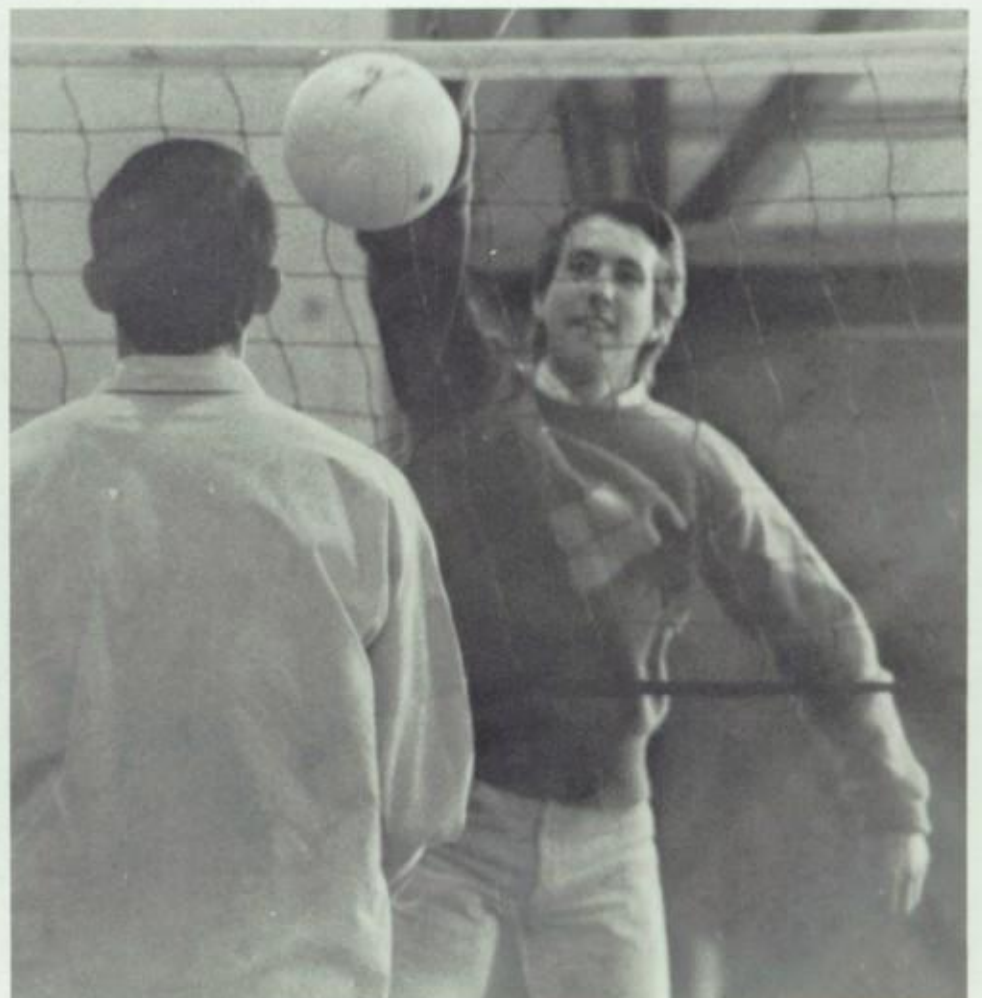

Coming out as strong as ever, the Volleyball Club still is the hottest new club on campus!

Lights, Camera, Action

"To join or not to join?" That seemed to be the question occurring in the minds of Drama students during the 1987-88 school year.

Under the direction of thespians Jim

Allen and Pete Lavorato, the club had an exciting year of dramatic activities.

The Christmas season was highlighted by the performance of "The Gift of Magi," by O. Henry, starring Todd Silva and Jenny Galindo. It was a very enjoyable play that displayed the club's fine acting and staging abilities.

The birth of spring brought warm weather and renewed enthusiasm to the young actors of San Benito High.

This new-found drive produced an extremely successful play entitled, "The Miracle Worker," by William Gibson.

Future Farmers of America

Plowing up tradition

The FFA trip to Roaring Camp was an incredible success.

The Hollister Chapter of Future Farmers of America had another successful year of upholding their fine agricultural tradition.

The year started with the Santa Cruz County Fair, where they made a very good showing. Then it was on to sectional competition, the "Best Informed" team took second, just missing a shot at regionals.

The "Parliamentary Procedure" team won the advanced sectional contest with Robert Hawkins, Rodney Bianchi, Barry Murphy, Greg Del Carlo, and Frank Cassiero all earning outstanding officer awards. Thus well earning their trip to regionals in March.

FHA-HERO

Ready for the future

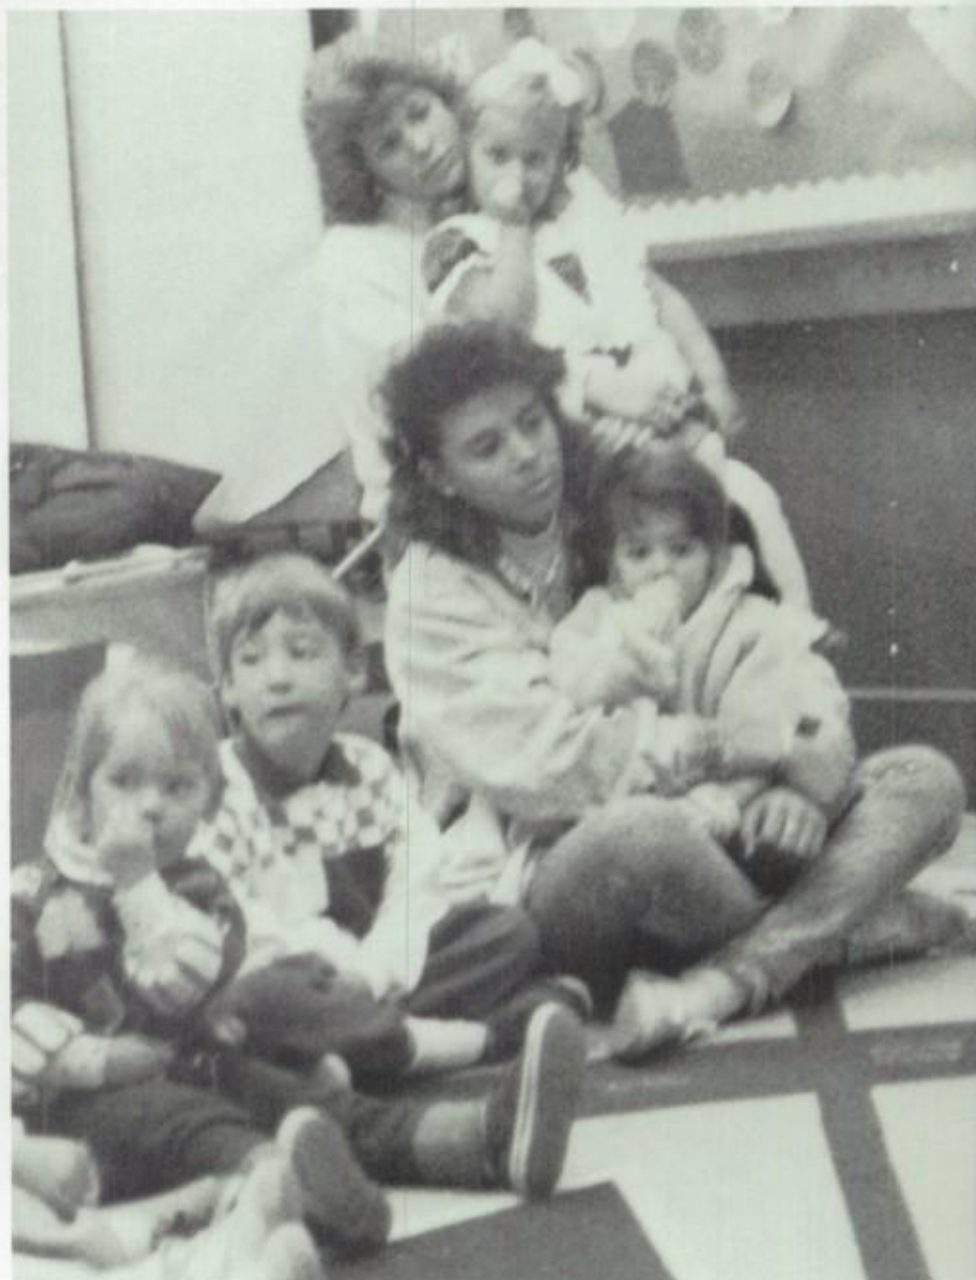

The Future Homemakers of America - Home Economics Related Occupations Club had another very busy year in 1987-88.

The fall brought the county fair and with the aid of advisor Carol Swanson, they braved the intense 110 degree heat to park cars for their first fund raiser.

However, fund raisers are not what the club is about. "We try to stress the belief in the individual, society and family." Swanson said. "There will always be a need for people with homemaking skills, whether it be in the home or commercially."

Club members took an active part in educational activities throughout the year, including a day camp for children with a visit by Santa Claus. Members were also involved in the maintenance of Baler Cove, the high school's Regional Occupational Program restaurant.
- Chris Collier

Ski Club hits the slopes

This year's Ski Club had a fun-filled season with a lot of day trips and a couple of overnights. Some of the places the Ski Club visited were Kirkwood, Bear Valley and the ever popular Squaw Valley.

Over 60 students went on the 3-day-2-night Squaw Valley trip making it the most popular ski adventure of the season.

A few lucky students went to Park City, Utah during the President's holidays.

President Greg O'Brien who was responsible for organizing all these ski-ventures said, "This year's participation in the Ski Club was excellent. There were more students interested in Ski Club than ever."

Other officers were Kurt Staben, Vice-President; John Ament, Secretary; Andy Ament, Treasurer; Barry Murphy, Sergeant-at-Arms; and Ski Club Advisor Bill Johnson.

Spirit . . . that's what it's all about

Did you ever ask yourself, "Who put on all those great rallies?" or, "Who made homecoming such a success?" If you guessed Rally Club you're absolutely right!

All through the year the Rally Club met at least once, and sometimes twice a week, to plan activities that increased school spirit such as rallies and Homecoming.

The officers for the year were Jennine Dureau, President; Armi Ferrer, Vice-President; Laura Brockbank, Secretary; Daniela Vinculado, Treasurer; Cindy Flocken, Chairman of Publicity; and Robert Gonzales, Sergeant-at-Arms.

The excellent staff brought a lot of new ideas to the club.

For example they decided to try out a new rally section which was located under the announcers box. "We thought it would be great for promoting spirit!" said president Jennine Dureau.

The rally section was designated for games and rallies. Anyone who sat there wore red and white.

There were also a few changes in the rally format. For example they decided to omit the introduction of athletic teams to make more time for performances and skits.

The club also decided to omit class competitions because they felt that it detracted from school unity.

After all, that's what it's all about in Rally Club, spirit, unity, and Baler Pride!

MARCHING TO A NEW TUNE

"Attention!" This a familiar command to take seriously from first year band director Wes Shinn.

The band after grueling days and nights of practice came up with some pretty show stopping performances. The most memorable ones probably being the Homecoming Parade and Homecoming half-time. The band entertained the crowd by playing their rendition of "Hey Baby" as the Escorts serenaded their princesses.

Half-time performances were something to be proud of again. According to senior tube player Marc Lotter-moser, "Band is an experience that everyone should have an opportunity to enjoy. Although it takes a lot of time and hard work, it's worth it when we travel to different places and meet the members of other bands."

Which is why tenor sax player Cheryl Williams agreed, "Saturday practices pay off in the end."

During the first weeks of band practice the lucky freshmen members got their taste of being part of the band. Initiation night

Choir, a division of band, put on some breathtaking performances. Probably the most memorable one being the Christmas concert.

What makes a Guard?

It's the San Benito Color Guard in full blooming colors! Lots of action and tons of fun. This year's color guard was composed of four units: rifles, letters, flags and dance line. Even though the guard is broken up into four units, when competing or performing they do everything together, just as a team.

The San Benito Color Guard performed this year for the half-time football games, but the guard is not all fun and games. It takes a lot of hard work, devotion and time.

In some respect, making you a more responsible person, but when all the hard work of practicing and getting down all the routines are finally done and over with, the feel of the accomplishment is the biggest reward.

It has been a terrific year for the 1987-88 color guard.

When you hear the Baler Band coming down the street, who do you see first? If you said the lettergirls you're right.

This year the lettergirls participated with the Band in leading the football homecoming parade. The lettergirls had a lot of fun leading the parade, but it took hard work and dedication to make the squad.

"It takes a lot of practice and time to learn new routines for the half-time field shows and field competitions, but in the end it all pays off when we bring home the trophy," said Hilda Polanco.

So next time you hear the Baler Band coming down the street and see all the nice smiles of the lettergirls, remember all the hard work it takes to add that extra "touch of class."

Freshmen

Cheering their hearts out

This year our freshman cheerleaders really cheered their hearts out. They were full of energy, smiles and spirit, which were qualities needed to become good cheerleaders.

They sent our school spirit sky high through rallies and the dress-up days during homecoming week.

The Frosh Squad was a great addition to our high school.

They proved to everyone that they had spirit and were not afraid to let us know it. They will always be remembered as "great" cheerleaders who had cheered their hearts out at H.H.S.

Spirit squad comes alive

This year's J.V. Spirit Squad showed all the spirit of what our school is all about.

They spent hours and hours of hard practices to perfect all their routines.

Donna Perez, a member of this year's J.V. Squad had this to say about the squad, "I think we had a good year. We kept our spirit, even though we were in a new league which made it tougher for our school's teams."

The J.V. Squad participated in the U.C.A. (United Cheerleading Association) this summer and won the dance and cheer-leading award.

The girls also cheered for all the football and basketball games this year.

With all they accomplished this year the J.V. Spirit Squad had a lot to be proud of.

During the year of '87 and '88, our varsity cheerleaders did a great job being our spirit leaders. They kept the crowd roaring and cheering to keep the games alive.

This year we had three mascots. They did wild and crazy things to make us laugh during rallies and games.

The spirit leaders were really dedicated. Neither rain nor shine could keep them from being out there cheering. It didn't matter if only one person was watching or one million people were watching, they still cheered as hard as they could.

When the school thinks of spirit they think of our spirit leaders.

Reliving thrills

Can you believe it's finally out? It's here!

You're holding it this very instant! Okay so you've probably figured that out already.

For those of you who think of yearbook as an "easy A," this is for you: "be for real!"

First of all you didn't just get a grade - you earned it! The yearbook staff started out with "intense" training. Layout, paste-up, copy, captions, dominant photos and especially deadlines all became a major part of your life once you entered "room 204".

After learning all the terminology you were pretty much on your own. "It's an excellent learning experience and the reward is the actual book," said editor Daisy Dorado. But there was a lot of fun in it, too. The staff got to exhibit all of their creativity and have it published.

Photographers were a major part, without them we would of been lost!

Photo editors David Somavia and Art Correa went to great lengths to show their staff what they needed to know.

Needless to say their results were "great!" said Art Correa.

"We worked very hard to produce the best yearbook ever," said Jaelle Arcieniega, editor of the 2nd period yearbook class.

Thanks to the entire 2nd and 5th period yearbook classes we have this year's memories in a book.

Thrills & spills on wheels

'Look ma, no hands!'

The interest in bicycling has in the last years developed from pastime to sport and enjoyment.

We are one of the lucky schools that have the opportunity to enjoy a Bicycle Club.

The club is a very fresh one. It started two years ago, and everyone who wanted to could join it.

Some people went there to get in shape. Others did it to make new friends or just for the fun of it.

We met the members after school when they had a club meeting, and what we met were happy and nice people.

They all hoped that their club will last forever on this campus, because they really want all students to have the chance to join.

The club meets occasionally on Saturdays and club days.

The members were very eager to tell about what they do in their club.

They even showed us some tricks on their bicycles.

You maybe ask yourself, "What did they do in this club?"

On Saturdays you could see a group of people riding their bikes through the countryside and towns.

That was the Bicycle Club of Hollister High 1988.

They did not attend any competitions, but cycled just for the fun of it.

Why not join it next year?

YOUNG LIFE:

In a Word: AWESOME.

When asked to sum up Young Life in a single word club advisor and football coach Pete Lavarado said, "AWESOME!!" And that was really what it was.

Young Life was young people getting together to have fun, make new friends, and learn about the bible in a way they could relate to it.

Activities at a Young Life meeting ranged from sing alongs, to snowball fights, and even a chubby bunny contest.

"Chubby Bunny champion" Jeff Reich said his most memorable Young Life experience was, "It definitely has to be the time when we nearly destroyed coach Lavarados' living room during the newspaper snowball fight."

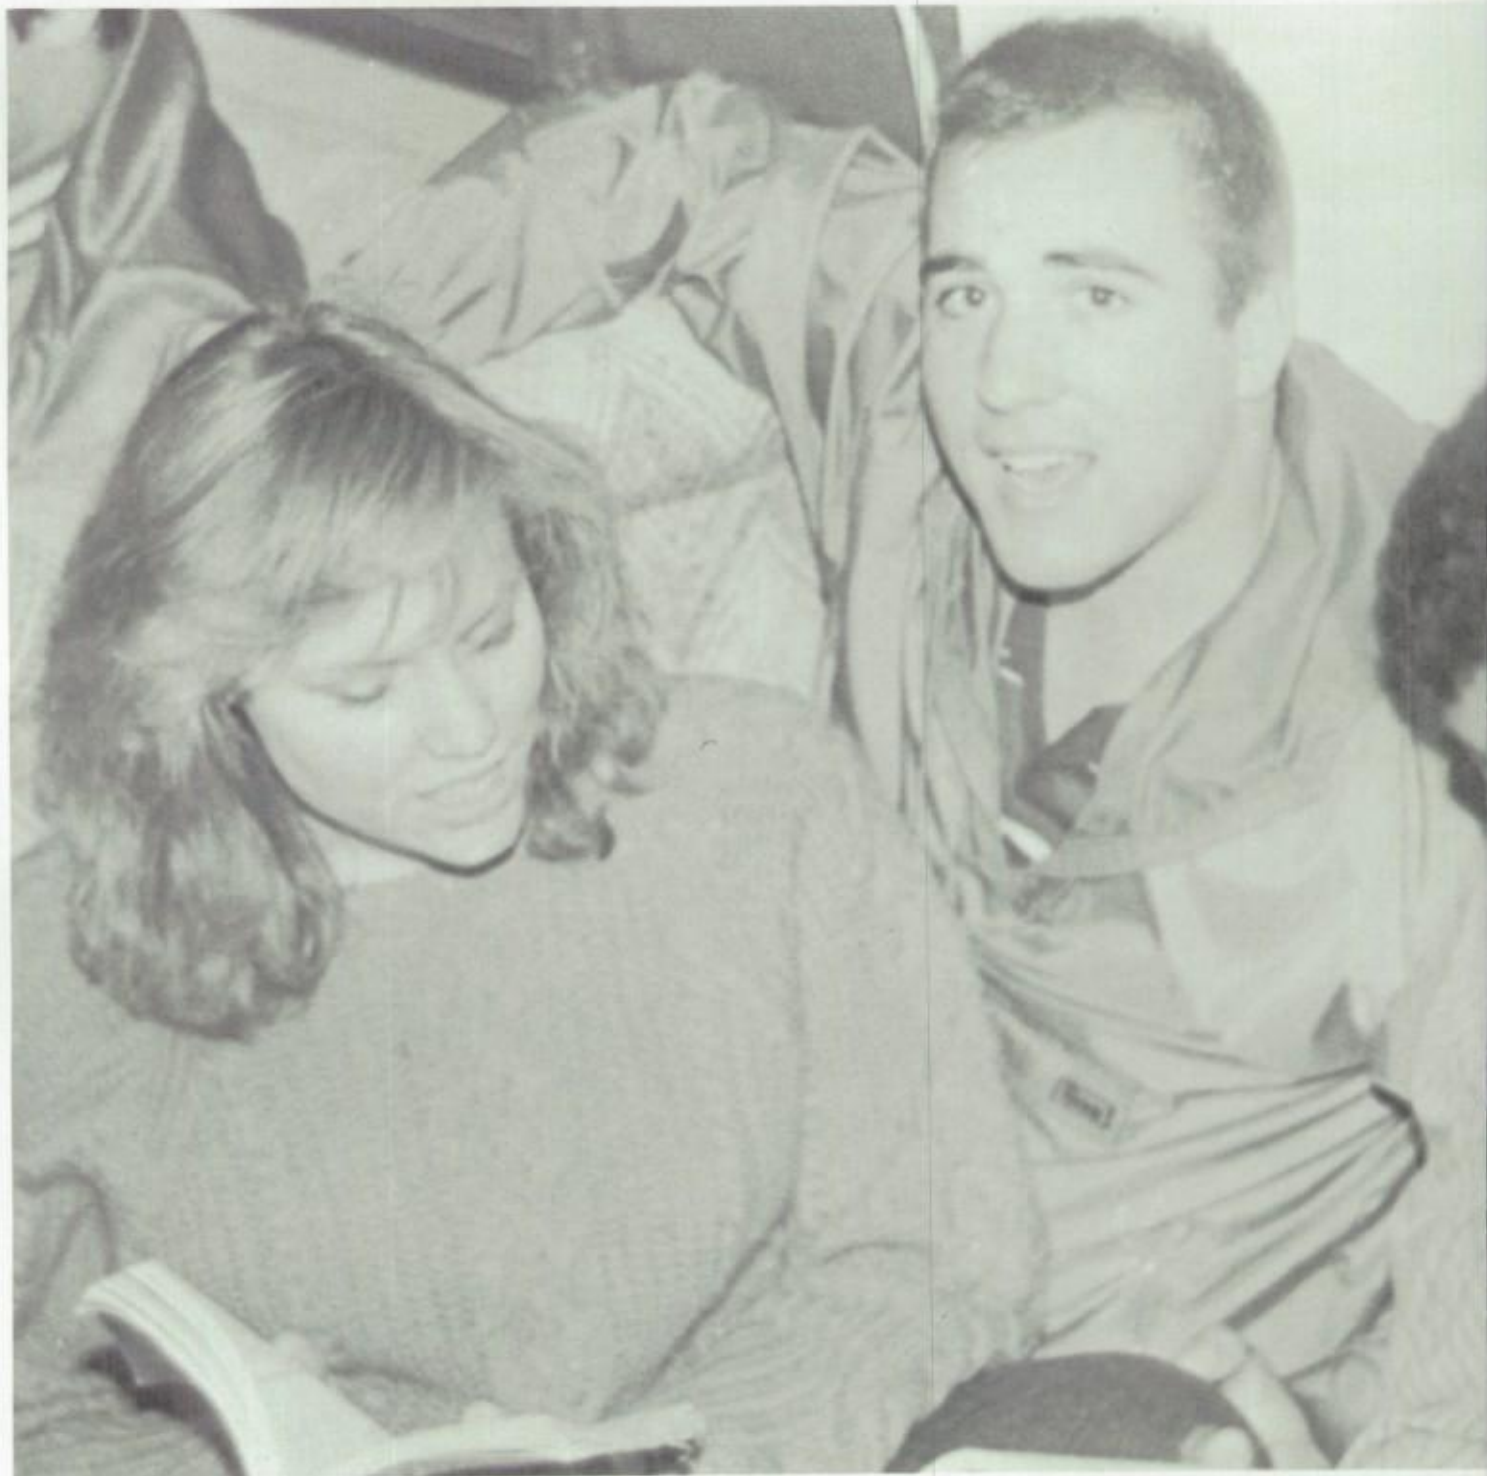

Formerly the Fellowship of Christian Athletes, Young Life also had a few extracurricular activities. Including a two day Young Life camp in the Santa Cruz Mountains, where Young Life members got to meet Young Life members from other schools. Including Gilroy and Live Oak.

They also visited local convalescent homes, and really brightened the patients day. There was also the second annual slave auction of the varsity football players.

Drug counselor and advisor, Brian Lippencott, always greets everyone with a smile.

The thrills of helping others

Everyone knows that every high school has some type of drug problem. Some students need help with solving their own problem(s) and that was what "Peer Leadership" was all about.

They traveled to different schools and showed that saying "no" to drugs and alcohol was alright. Peer leaders told kids that drugs weren't right or wrong.

Instead they let kids know that they can make their own decisions, and not let people decide for them.

Brian Lippencott was the drug counselor at the high school and the coordinator of "Peer Leadership". He was always willing to help people with their problems.

Future peer leaders attended a series of workshops to learn necessary skills.

Some of these were refusal skills and drug information. When these sessions were completed, the peer leaders went out to local schools and gave presentations.

When asked why she joined "Peer Leadership",

Teresa Clark said, "I joined (Peer Leadership) because I wanted to make a visible difference in someone else's life. I also enjoy making up the skits."

The skits she mentioned were an integral part of teaching kids to say, "No!" They were usually real-life situations which demonstrated refusal skills.

On their way to independence

San Benito High School has a special class that not many students think about and that is the "Life Skills" class.

It helped with building the students independence learning.

The students attended school everyday in the same way as other students. They had a wide variety of studies from basic education to the economical and domestical skills needed for independence.

The students also took time to attend Physical Education classes (which they enjoyed). They joined other students at games, rallies, and many other activities related to the school.

This class was extremely important. Much of the credit must be given to their teacher and advisor, Sam Walsingham.

Taking a step up

1987 was the year the Balers were not considered to be a league threat. After all, they were entering the M.B.L., a league with tougher and larger teams.

But Baler's head coach Bill Johnson said that the Balers would not be taken lightly in the new league. He was right! Each team the Balers faced, came out like they were trying to take something away. The Baler's had a reputation of winning the big games. Winning was what the Balers had become accustomed to.

The team started out strong, crushing Ceres (31-7) and Gunn (32-6). They then went on to tie an old foe from the MTAL, King City, (14-14).

Then league began and the Balers experienced hard and disappointing losses.

The Balers will be most remembered for the 1987 homecoming comeback game against the North Salinas Vikings.

A key factor in this game was when Chris Tortorelli was removed because of a broken ankle. This served to unite the Balers, as they dedicated the game to him.

It looked bad for the team as they were down (15-7) at half, but late in the third quarter the Baler's special teams put it together when Buck Caetano and Kirk Ward opened a hole for linebacker Tim Sparrer who went on to block a punt deep in North Salinas' territory. Sparrer recovered the ball in the endzone for a Baler quick six.

The point after touchdown team added two points which tied the game at (15-15). Once again, North Salinas had the ball deep in their own territory.

Then it happened!

It was the play that changed the game. North Salinas' Jeff Newman, one of the leading passers in the MBL, went back to pass and put the ball into the hands of Baler linebacker, George Ford, who returned the pass for a touchdown thanks to Woody Vega's key block.

The two-point conversion was good and the Baler's went on to win the game (23-15).

Hidden Heros

Putting it on the line

Do you ever wonder why these guys play line positions?

So the point is clear. Without a line, touchdowns just wouldn't happen.

Think about it! They get no credit except when they are charged with a penalty, or when they are referred to as dumb linemen by some angry coach.

But if people realized half the plays they must remember, then they would understand how hard it really is on the line.

Even though they don't get the credit for the touch-downs, where would the running backs be without their line opening the holes for them to run through?

Where would the quarter-back be without the line giving him time so he can throw? I'll tell you where - on their backs staring up at the stars!

Conversley, when you think of defense, you think of interceptions. The linebackers and cornerbacks who become instant hero's with one quick grab of a weak-thrown pass would be nothing if it wasn't for the line putting on the pressure with a hard-hitting pass rush.

So is the point becoming obvious to you?

Simply put, without a line, the team would go NOWHERE!

Although the Junior Varsity didn't have the most successful year record wise, they learned a lot of skills necessary to build a championship team.

The Junior Varsity year was a learning experience and the players were given a chance to fine-tune their skills before the big move up to varsity.

Thrills of Varsity Volleyball

The Baler Volleyball team had its share of ups and downs. They were a very close knit team, and they depended on each other through thick and thin. When they played together nothing could stop them, but when they got down, it was hard for them to get back together.

There was a new face on the court this year, not a player but a coach. Her name was Carrie Wallen, she came out to California from Iowa this summer not knowing what to expect. When she came to Hollister she was left with only two seniors, Casey Pence and Kim Koehler.

Juniors were Kristie Patterson, Anissa Galvan, Gina Vallejo, Chase Inman, Nat Hegg, Jennifer Daughenbaugh, and Stephanie Pedrazzi. They had two sophomores Marlene Chavez and Lisa Koehler.

Although the team did not make it to C.C.S., they learned in order to win they would have to play as one and not as six individuals. New friendships were made, and memories were established.

Entering the new M.B.L. league the girls did a tremendous job in representing Hollister and had plenty to be proud of.

The Girls Cross Country Team started the season with only three runners, but managed to get two more to make a complete team.

On November 5th, the Baler girls traveled to Toro Park in Salinas for league championships, but had to run with an incomplete team due to an unexpected knee injury to Kim Morden.

But that didn't stop the BALERS. Despite running with an incomplete team the girls showed their Baler spirit with junior Sylvia Castaneda finishing 11th. While freshmen Eileen Chavez, Myra Trinidad and Amy Weinheimer finishing 16th, 21st and 22nd in the league.

The girls had good reason to be proud of their season, and they couldn't wait to run in next year's Soquel Invitational because they all loved the "Killer Hill"...RIGHT GIRLS?!

Second Place in League

Country

The BALER 1987 cross country team knew they had a tough year ahead of them.

After leaving the M.T.A.L. as league champions they entered the M.B.L. as top contenders. As coach John Coombes put it, "The cross country team represented Hollister very well in the M.B.L. with only one loss, which was to last years M.B.L. champions Live Oak."

Stated Ralphie Chavez, "The new league was a change, there was more pressure on us because we knew we had to be on top of the new league since we left the M.T.A.L. as league champs."

The BALER trio of Ralphie Chavez, Joseph Casarez, and Scott Contival helped pull the varsity cross country team to a second place finish in the league, but don't leave out the fine running of Robert Gonzalez, Tony Boch, Emillio Trinidad, and Robelio Burmudez who filled out the rest of the team.

Joseph Casarez and Ralphie Chavez placed fourth and seventh to take all-league honors. The BALER runners proved to be one of the best in the new league.

SWIMMING

Splash! the girl's swim team consisted of 15 varsity swimmers this year. Coach Tom Agan thought everyone improved tremendously throughout the swimming season.

"A hard working team that tries their best is all that counts," added Coach Agan.

As a fund raiser the girls participated in a 24 hour swim. Family and friends sponsored each swimmer per lap during the given time period.

In the process some of the swimmers were able to complete 600 laps.

The team was led by junior captain Lynn

Wurscher, sophomore Lara Weinheimer and junior Barbara Colliver. The team was very enthusiastic about the swimming season.

"I think this year we had a lot of team spirit, we had great fun at practices and made up some great songs!" Lynn Wurscher stated.

The team also had many new swimmers. Sue Kelsch said, "This year was my first, and I wish I could have been in it before."

Tara Ayala added, "I really thought it was great that we got a whole bunch of new people. We all became friends."

Coach Agan provided the team with skills and spirit for a fun swimming season.

Tennis

anyone?

This year's Varsity Tennis team, coached by Mr. David Bradley, finished the year with a league record overall.

The Balers were led through the year by Junior Kim Duffield in the number one slot.

The team was a little bit hasty about coming into the new league, but with key players such as Duffield and sophomore Amy Churchill, their tensions were eased.

A significant contribution was also made by the number one doubles team, Lana Shelton and Michelle Perez.

And when spirits got down, senior Anne Popowski, team captain, was always there to bring them up along with junior Christine Lawson.

The Balers were pleased with the outcome of their first year as a M.B.L. team, and expect better things to come in the future.

Varsity

Balers' experience tough season

The 1987-88 Varsity Basketball season started out good for the Balers, but quickly came to an end. The Balers had high hopes with first year coach Bob Lee, but things just didn't go the Balers way.

Winning 5 out of 13 pre-season games and going 0 and 13 in league play. The Balers, who moved into the M.B.L. this season, experienced hard times in the tougher league, but never surrendered.

The Balers were one of the tougher teams to play despite their record. "We were considered one of the better defensive teams in the league," said senior Todd Silva.

With the new C.C.S. play-offs format, the Balers entered the play-offs for the first time in many years.

The Balers drew Andrew Hill of San Jose in the first round. The Balers played them tough, but got the short end of the stick losing 73-66.

Seniors Dennis Ross and James Madison had an exceptional year. Dennis Ross was the fifth leading scorer in the M.B.L. averaging 14 points per game while James Madison was one of the league's better rebounders. Both were named to the second team all-league.

Joe Ravizza and Wirt Lanning also had a good year. Ravizza averaged 11.6 points per game, while Lanning was second in the league in 3 point shooting.

Also Todd Silva led the team in assist and steals for the second year in a row.

Lee Hawkins and John Delgado provided scoring off the bench that helped the Balers when in foul trouble.

"It's like we weren't losing anything by putting them in," said James Madison. "Our bench wasn't that deep, but they got the job done," said Dennis Ross.

Juniors Gus DeVries, Aaron Culala, and Ken Whittle got valuable experience this year. "They're the nucleus of next year's team," said coach Bob Lee.

The Balers will be strong contenders next year and will surprise a lot of teams.

League Play (MBL)

J.V. Basketball

There's No Place Like Home!!

The 1987-88 Junior Varsity Basketball team had an up and down year. But this year was different from all the others.

This year was different from all the other up and down years because it was not like the J.V. started out strong then finished weak. Oh, no! It was not like that at all!!

It was like this: the J.V. won games throughout the year, but it always seemed that they would only win the home games.

Maybe that doesn't sound so bad, but when you're playing to win you must also win away games too.

Well if your a basketball fan this team should give you something to cheer about if there's still some of that old magic left in

"old O'Donnell Gym."

When asked about the season Marty Carter said, "We were never really out of the game, we were never blown out, and the other teams always felt our pressure.

When speaking to Gabby Estrada, the team leader in spirit, he said, "When the team was down I was always there to bring them back up."

Coach Lavarato summed it up with this, "Even though we did not have the best record this season the spirit that we did have will always make these guys winners."

Players to watch for in the future are Josh Meyers, Preston Thomas, Eric Sousa, Tyronne Todd, and Marty Carter.

Frosh Basketball

This year's freshmen Basketball team, had the best record out of all the boys' teams.

They were also contenders for the M.B.L. title.

Newcomer head coach Steve Marentis brought the boys together to put the team in the running for the title.

This is not a new task for the Hollister freshman teams. The freshman teams past and present have been known for taking titles.

The question was could this freshman team fulfill where so many other teams of the past have failed to accomplish—producing strong J.V. and Varsity teams in the future?

If so, such players had to perform to their highest potential and to keep a winning attitude going into the next year and the years to come.

As player Aaron Ayala stated, "If we work on our offense a little more, we should have a better year."

"I had a great time playing this year, I'm definitely looking forward to playing J.V.'s next year," said Mike Mansmith.

Players hoping to bring Hollister a brighter future are Otis Bailey, Victor Guzman, Aaron Ayala, Brent Edwards, Mike Mansmith, Troy Soza, and Brad Perette.

Notorious 9

Once upon a time, not long ago, in a gym not far from here, a great adventure took place. Nine young girls set foot into O'Donnell gym for one thing - to play basketball.

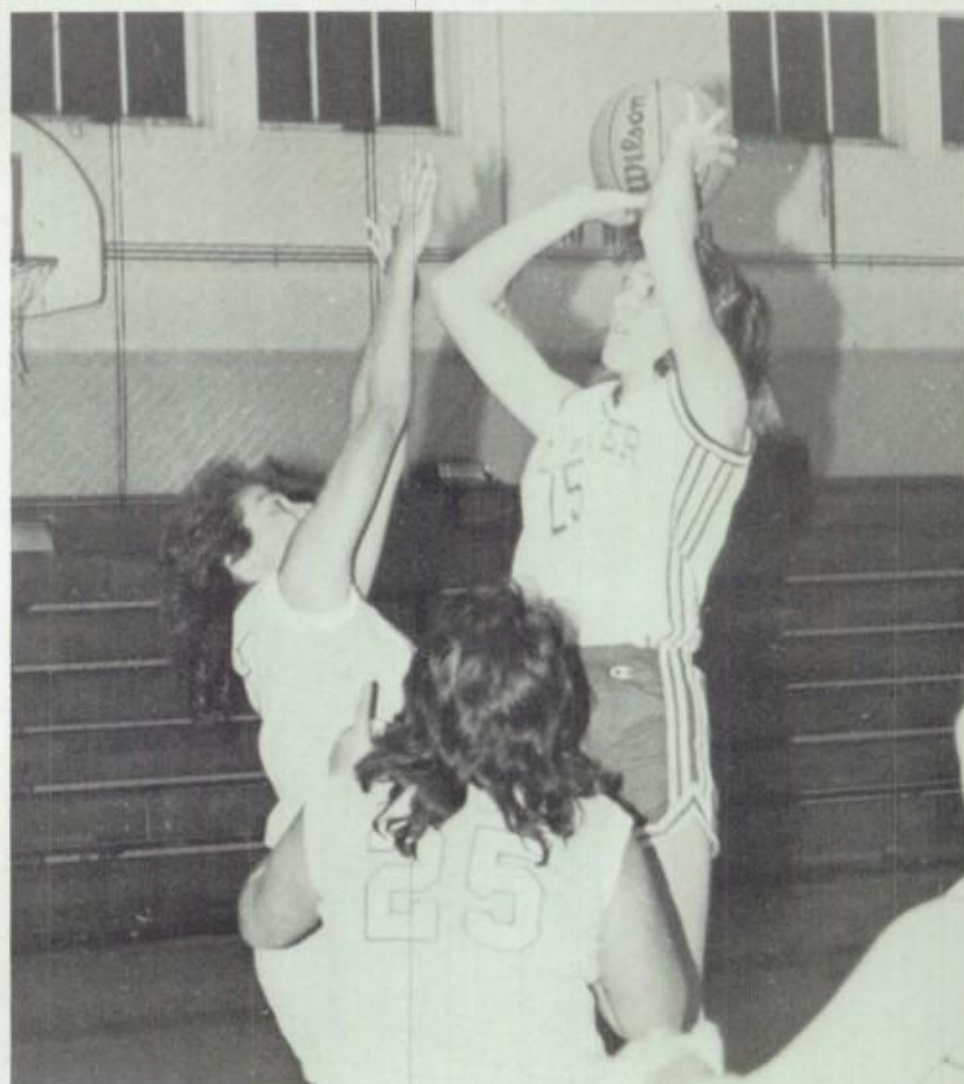

They played well, winning 18 and losing only five. From South Dakota came Cammy Kuhns, who took her competitors by surprise. Her outstanding talents made their game a sport.

The other eight were just as great. With players like Karen Tuckness, Cristy Pidd, and Gina Vallejo, the excitement was always guaranteed. These nine girls took third in their league, reached the quarter finals of the C.C.S. play-offs, and placed first in our hearts.

Then there was Wally, the coach who kept them fighting from the beginning to the end. Coach DeWall said, "I was proud of how the girls stuck together and the season they had."

Dribbling into action

As the ball hit the floor, the action began. The J.V. Basketball team provided us with a lot of exciting games this year. With players like Marlene Chavez, Melinda Hayworth, Lisa and Katie Koehler, and Tracey Thomas there was always enough thrills.

Although they were an average team, they had an above average spirit, and through thick and thin, they always held in.

Sophomore Marlene Chavez said, "We did good and we had fun. That's what the game is all about."

Baler royalty

Every year it is our school's tradition to elect Royalty to represent our school for Homecoming week.

Each class votes on a princess, and on Homecoming Night from the three senior princesses a Queen is crowned.

The freshman chose Cindy Urbina as their princess and Dannilo Ivancovich as her escort. The sophomore princess was Patty Salcedo, and her escort was Rob Swanson. Gina Vallejo, the junior princess, was escorted by Tony Boch. And for the seniors the princesses were Jessica

De La Cruz escorted by Robert Gonzalez, Martha Gomez escorted by Woody Vega, and Cindy Flocken escorted by Matt Covell.

During halftime of the Boys Varsity Basketball game the princesses and their escorts were presented to the crowd, and last years Homecoming Queen, Tricia Classic, was there to crown Cindy Flocken as this year's Homecoming Queen.

At the after-game dance the new Queen and her King led their court in the traditional Homecoming dance, and on to a wonderful night.

VARSITY

VARSITY WRESTLING

This year's varsity wrestling team was stronger than ever. The many matches that were won this year had been a result of dedication and effort. David Somavia said, "This year we had a lot of high goals and accomplished almost all of them, the year was a real success."

The Balers took first in Monterey Bay League Championships.

The M.B.L. varsity honors went to Robert Gonzales (108 lbs.), Geoff Barry (115 lbs.), Ralph Salcedo as Outstanding Wrestler (135 lbs.), and David Polanco (177 lbs.)

When asked about being a league champion Robert Gonzales said, "It felt really great to be an individual champion and the first varsity team champions in the M.B.L. from our school."

The Baler boy's put up quite a fight this past season. They were a four year returning M.T.A.L. tournament champs.

They were regional champions, placed fourth in the C.C.S. Dual Team championships, and the wrestlers placed sixth in C.C.S. individual tournament.

The team had three placers in the C.C.S. individual tournament. They were Ralph Salcedo, David Somavia, and Chris Barry.

Captains qualify for State

To be one of the best in the state is an honor. This year three Baler wrestlers - Ralph Salcedo, David Somovia and Chris Berry - earned the honor of representing our school in the state championships at Spanos Center in Stockton.

Chris had to come from behind to place at the CCS finals at Independence High School in San Jose.

He had to wrestle six of his seven matches in the consolation round. A single loss in the consolation round would have meant elimination from the both the CCS and state tournaments.

David had a little easier path than Chris. He won his first three, then lost in the semi-finals. He then won his next two to finish third overall.

Ralph only had to wrestle five times. This was because he won all five of his matches.

By doing so, Ralph became the Baler's CCS champion in the 132 lb. weight class.

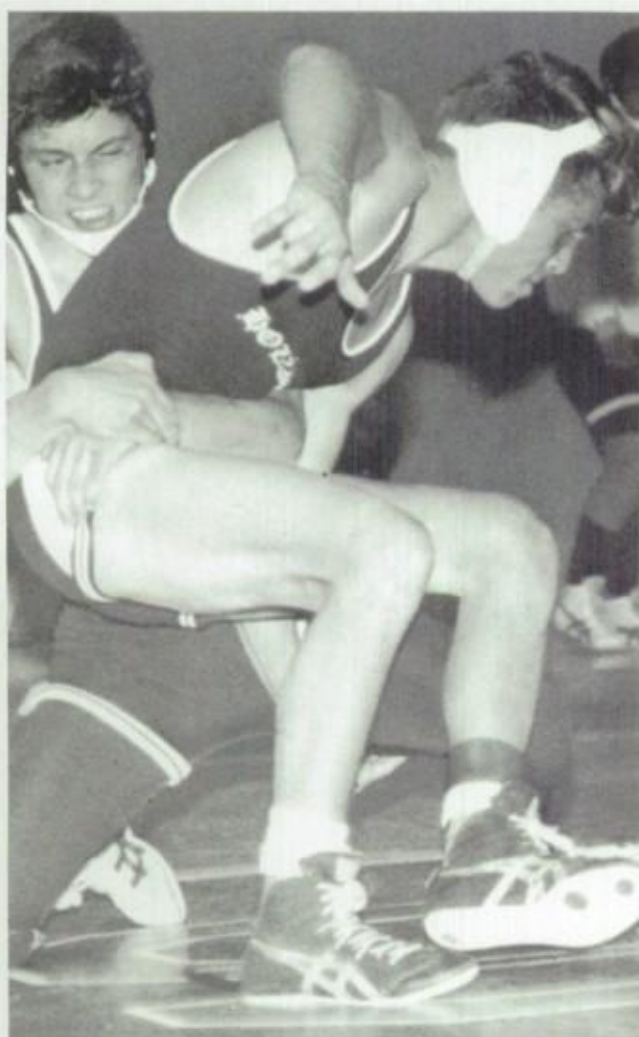

The three Balers led the team to a sixth place finish out of 76 participating schools.

Chris Berry hits yet another of his many reversals.

Thank you

To our coach, Mr. Dillon, we the 1987-88 Wrestling Team would like to express our deepest appreciation and thanks for all the extra hours and hard work you gave to us unselfishly. Without your guidance, we wouldn't have been successful, especially your State qualifiers Ralph, David, and Chris.

J.V. WRESTLING

This year's Junior Varsity wrestling team was filled with talent and experience.

The Baler boys, as coach Logue called them, were MBL "runners-up."

This team had many leaders. They were led by Matt Matton, Jeff McNown, Gilbert Montoya, and Victor Leon.

These are some of the names to watch for next season.

The JV team also included some former basketball players. After a season of hard-fought matches, they came to realize they truly did love the sport of wrestling.

The bottom line is that the future indeed does look bright for the SBHS wrestling program.

Coach Logue gives advice to one of his JV wrestlers.

V. Soccer

Using their heads

The Varsity Soccer team had a commendable record. Playing their last year, the soccer program will miss Juan Carlos Ceja, an outstanding senior forward, and Ramiro Ramos, outstanding sweeper.

Goalie John Starkweather was vital to the team's success. Their skill and determination led them to a winning season.

This year our soccer team was led by new coach Bob Runyan. Coach Runyan brought playing and coaching experience with a refreshing new style to our soccer program.

Next year's varsity team has a promising future with the return of players like Alejandro Manzo, Danny Chavez, Jesus Solorio, Martin Canela, and Jose Luis Gonzalez.

J.V. Soccer

This year's Hollister Baler's J.V. Soccer team had their share of thrills and spills this season.

Having a shortage of players absolutely did not help the team's chances of doing good.

Their record of (1-5) at the middle of the season was a disappointment for the team, but coach Juan Robledo said, "Although we had a less than successful season, no one can say we didn't have fun."

Promising players for next year's varsity team are Thad Jean, Kevin Swartz, Juneval Ornelas, Jaime Marquez, and Armando Barragan.

These players and their teammates all said, "We can't wait for next year's season to begin."

Varsity

Bring 'em home

With a new coach, the 1988 Boys Varsity Baseball Team showed early signs of a promising season. Replacing last years head coach Dick Adams was former J.V. Coach Mike Mc Kinney. "Now that Coach Mc Kinney is head coach, he is hoping to build strong teams in the present and future," said Senior catcher Buck Caetano.

Hollister's infield included; Chris Lee, Ramon Ortega, and Rob Picha. Second base was shared by Leroy Dozal and Adam Garcia. Shortstop had David Marquez, Reyes Bonilla, and Jose Jacquez in the running. And lastly, at third were Seniors Alex Lopez, and Tommy Martin.

The outfield was made up of Mario Bravo, Paul Paterlin, Jeff Reich, Ruben Acosta, Rob Picha, Reyes Bonilla, and Andrew Barragan.

The rotation on the mound was shared by versatile Jose Jacquez, Leroy Dozal, Gabe "UCLA" Gutierrez, Chris Lee, Ramon Ortega, Andrew Barragan, and Rob Picha.

Marc Peterlin and Buck Caetano both shared time behind the plate.

With many new players and a good portion of last year's J.V. and Varsity Baseball team, 1988 Varsity Baseball team will be great contenders for the MBL playoffs.

J.V. Baseball

Swinging for success

With an unusual blend of experience and youth, the J.V. baseball team flew to a great start this season. Returning players such as catcher, Gabby Estrada; first baseman, Nick Annotti, and outfielder, Chris Arnett seemed to have given the team the push they need.

J.V. coach Chuck Gansen approached the '88 season head on. In spite of being a new coach, Mr. Gansen put forth every effort to shape up the team, their skills, and their attitudes.

As coach Gansen said, "The purpose of J.V. is to develop players for Varsity. This year's team had lots of enthusiasm and a desire to improve."

Second baseman, Mike Peck was quoted as saying, "It's been a real learning experience."

Coach Gansen added, "This was a good group of young men and it was a pleasure to work with them."

Varsity Softball

The 1988 Varsity team consisted of more rookies than veterans. The veterans were seniors Casey Pence, Tricia Haro, and Nikki Falcone; juniors were Olympia Soto and Anissa Galvan.

Olympia Soto said as the season started up, "We have a lot of new people, but we should do pretty good."

Having quite a few new members on the team took a little extra effort and patience from the more experienced players from last year's varsity team.

Hard practices, strict discipline, and a team that works together is coach Dennis DeWall's theory for a successful season.

Coach DeWall said at the beginning of the season which started February 1st, "If pitchers Marlene Chavez and Carmen Hernandez keep up their fast and accurate pitching, we'll have a competitive season."

Carmen Hernandez gives a little input on Coach DeWall's coaching. She said, "I think he's a good coach and he works us hard, and I'm sure in the end it'll pay off! He has encouraged me a lot."

J.V. Softball

The j.v. softball team was full of promise for the 1988 season.

One strong starter was shortstop Tiffany Silva.

Many of the sophomores were returning players which strengthened the team in maturity and unity.

Being in a new league brought many changes and surprises.

When asked about the team and the coach, sophomore Barbra Von Thien said, "The coach is pretty nice, he's fair about things, and Casey Pence influenced me quite a bit."

Freshman Priscilla Cardenas said, "Coach Falcone really pushed us and I think that is what we needed to have this year."

Freshman Mitsy Godoy said, "It was worth it because we've learned a lot."

Golf: Roughing it

As beautiful spring weather fell upon the Baler Golf Team, it gave the hope of a promising season. A more practical reason for hope last season was the consistent hard work of Jason Props, Aaron Aguirre and Stefanie Gulla.

When asking Jason Props who he thought will be most improved, he was not being arrogant when he said, "Probably myself because I have been really working hard...I've progressed."

Another reason for real hope was the hard work of freshman Mark Wright and other young players.

Stefanie Gulla summed up the attitude at the beginning of the season. "Even though the team is young, I think that we have a lot of talent in the underclassmen." She said, "They are going to help the team pull through the season overall. I think it will be a good season."

Affirming this was coach Edwards, "I look for steady improvement from the whole team and a high ranking in league."

BOYS TENNIS

The Hollister High boy's tennis team knew they had a tough road to pave going into the season, but stuck to their guns in the new and tougher league.

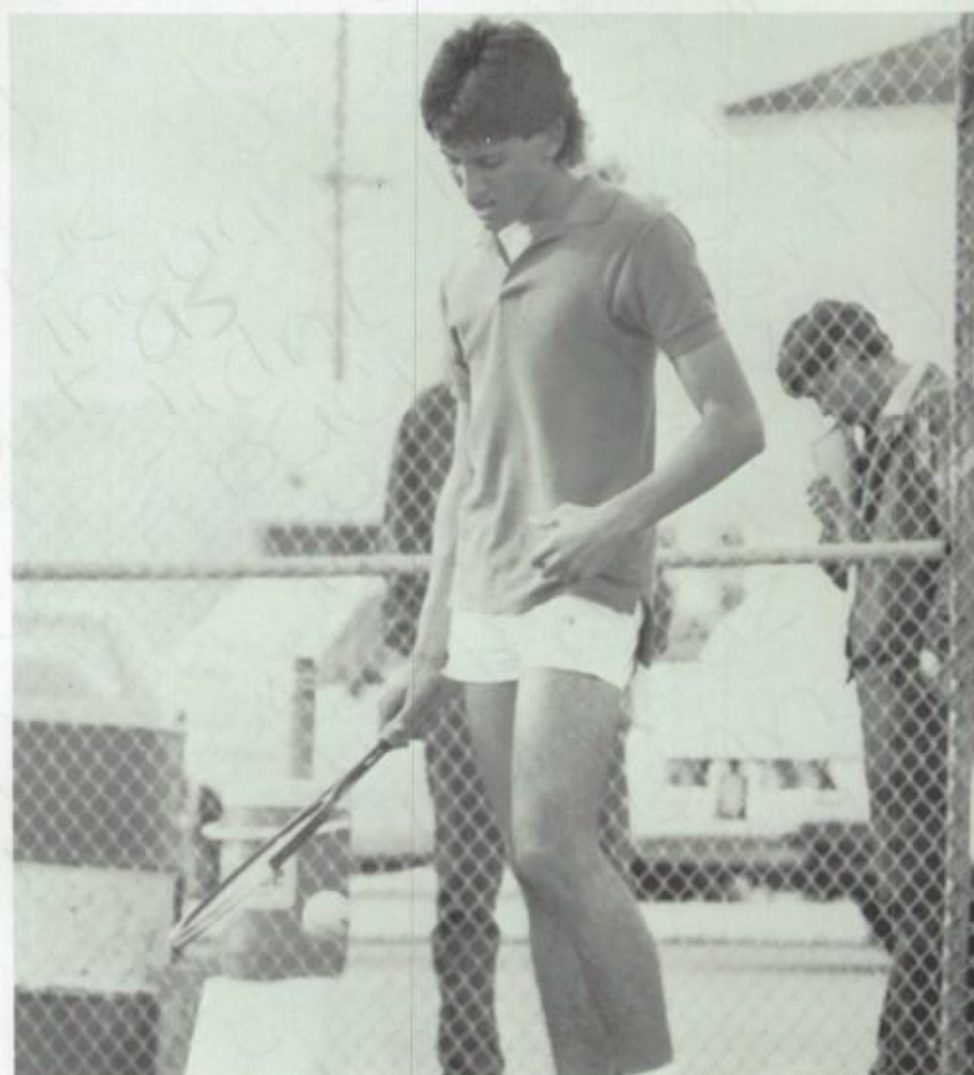

"I knew it would be real tough, but if they hold up mentally and physically we'll do good," said coach Dave Bradley.

After an opening triumph over the weak Watsonville, the boys were looking down the barrel of Monterey and Gilroy, the power houses of the league.

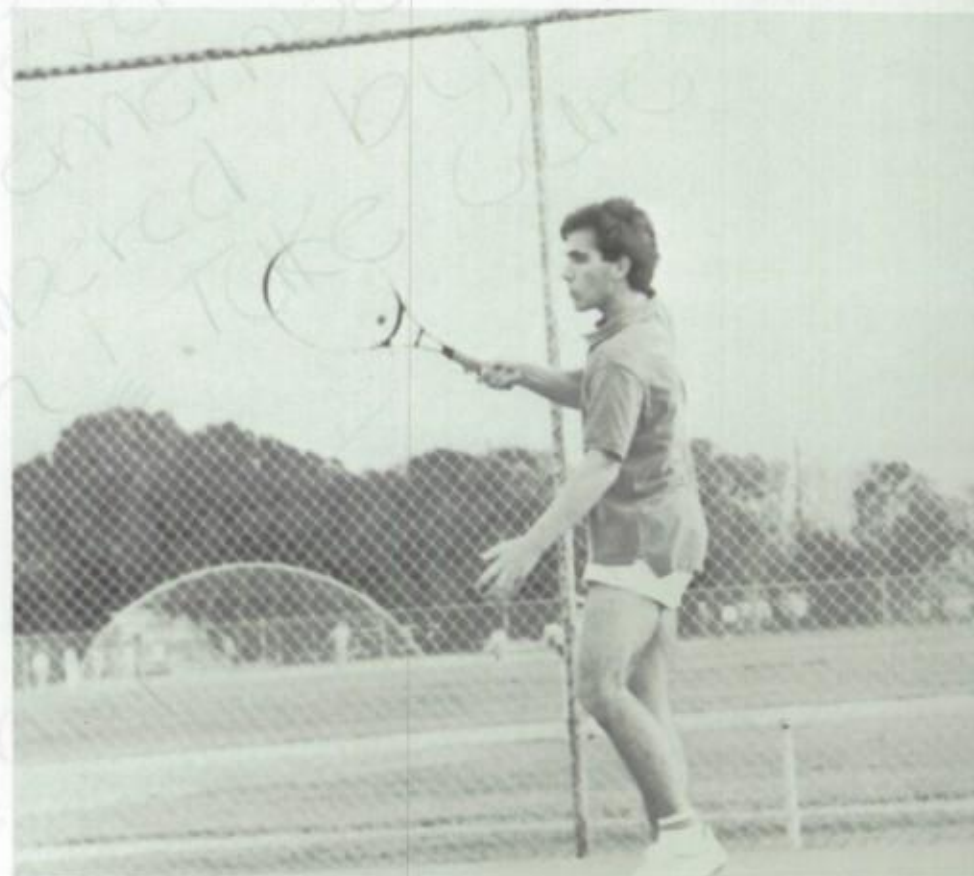

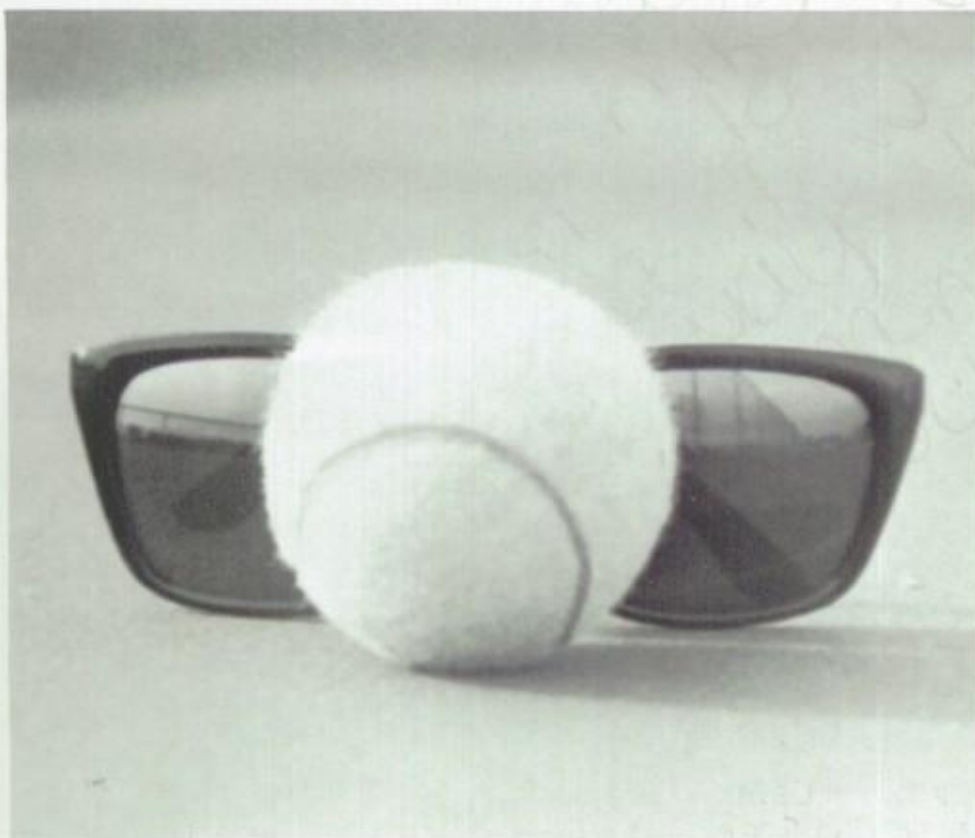

"Even if I don't win in points, if I keep a good attitude and play to my ability I am a winner," said senior Brent DeKay, the strong half of the number one doubles team. Holding the top gun on the team was senior Marc Lottermoser. Smashing into number two play was senior Damon Arnett. Senior Art Hernandez proved that a well rounded game as well as an incredible physical ability was the ticket for the number three opening. The unorthodox Nick Caputo, senior, frustrated his opponents at the number four slot. Senior "Iron Man" Charlie Hamilton tied down the number five position with good hustle and an inspiring attitude. Number one doubles was played by sophomore Ian Carter and senior Brent DeKay. The number two doubles hole was filled by freshman Gordon Sandles and junior Matt Troy.

"No matter what happens, I plan having a real fun time, and that's what it is all about," summed up senior, Nick Caputo.

Number four player, Nick Caputo, hangs his head in disgust during a grueling match.

Girls Track

A step ahead

Energized that may be a good word to describe this year's Girls' Track team. Track is a sport that takes a lot of determination to excel. With the support and good coaching of Virginia Samuelson and Randy Logue the girls came on strong. "It's a pleasure to work with a group of girls who support each other and are willing to work hard." coach Samuelson said.

Track is no piece of cake. It's hard work but like Yolanda Meza said there's always that satisfying feeling. "When you go out there and give it your all, your best and win, that feeling of accomplishment is great."

Strong runners like Yolanda Meza in the 200, half mile and mile relay; Theresa Clark sprints; Melissa Vasquez 200, 400 and mile relay took on the M.B.L. Debbie Belus and Cassie Arballo skip and hopped the triple jump. And freshman Amy Weinheimer came on strong to sprint herself to the top.

There was no doubt the girls looked forward to a successful season.

Boy's Track

Setting new goals

The 1988 boys track team worked hard to uphold its tradition of the past.

The boys team kicked off the 1988 season with the Hollister Co-Ed Relays. All of the Baler runners pushed themselves to their limits, and the results came in the form of many outstanding performances.

"We wanted to have a different type of invitational," stated coach Logue. "We have a lot of high competitive meets, this time we decided to have one to be fun."

Junior Joe Hicks, in his first meet as a Baler, broke the Hollister High school record in the shot put by heaving the shot 53'3." And in his second meet he broke it again by throwing the shot 55.' The old high school record was 51'11" set in 1979.

Some of the returning athletes had high goals that they hoped to accomplish. "My goal," said Scott Contival, "Is to run a 4:40 mile and a 10:02 two-mile."

Carl Rosier also had success on his mind when he said "My goal is to improve my times and hopefully make it to C.C.S."

The boys track team strived to perform and succeed in its 1988 season, and many of the team members' goals were accomplished.

Teachers in action

They made it! The newest addition to San Benito High School have survived their rookie year.

Entering a new high school can mean a real challenge for some of the coolest and collected teachers and a disaster to the not so collected. Teaching at a new school can be very frustrating when trying to learn new rules.

Social science teacher George Petersen says, "Teaching here at Hollister High is refreshing, the students here are more nearer and better directed."

Coming to a new environment can be a big difference if you come from a smaller town and school.

"When it was the first day of school I was here about 7:15 a.m. and I was real scared," said math teacher Karrie Wallen. "I walked through the hall to get to the administrations office and there were thousands of kids. I couldn't believe how many people there were, so I ran to my classroom and hid!"

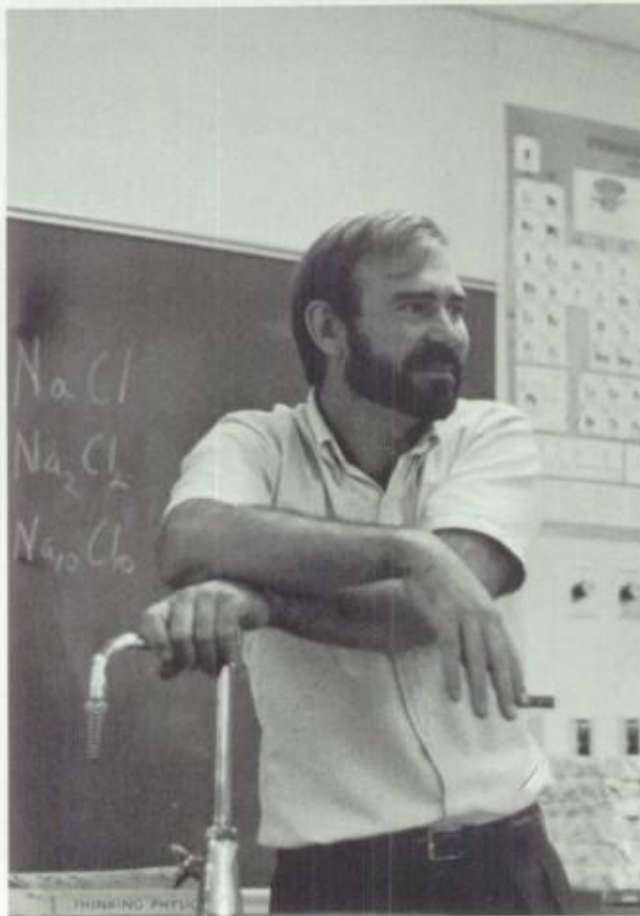

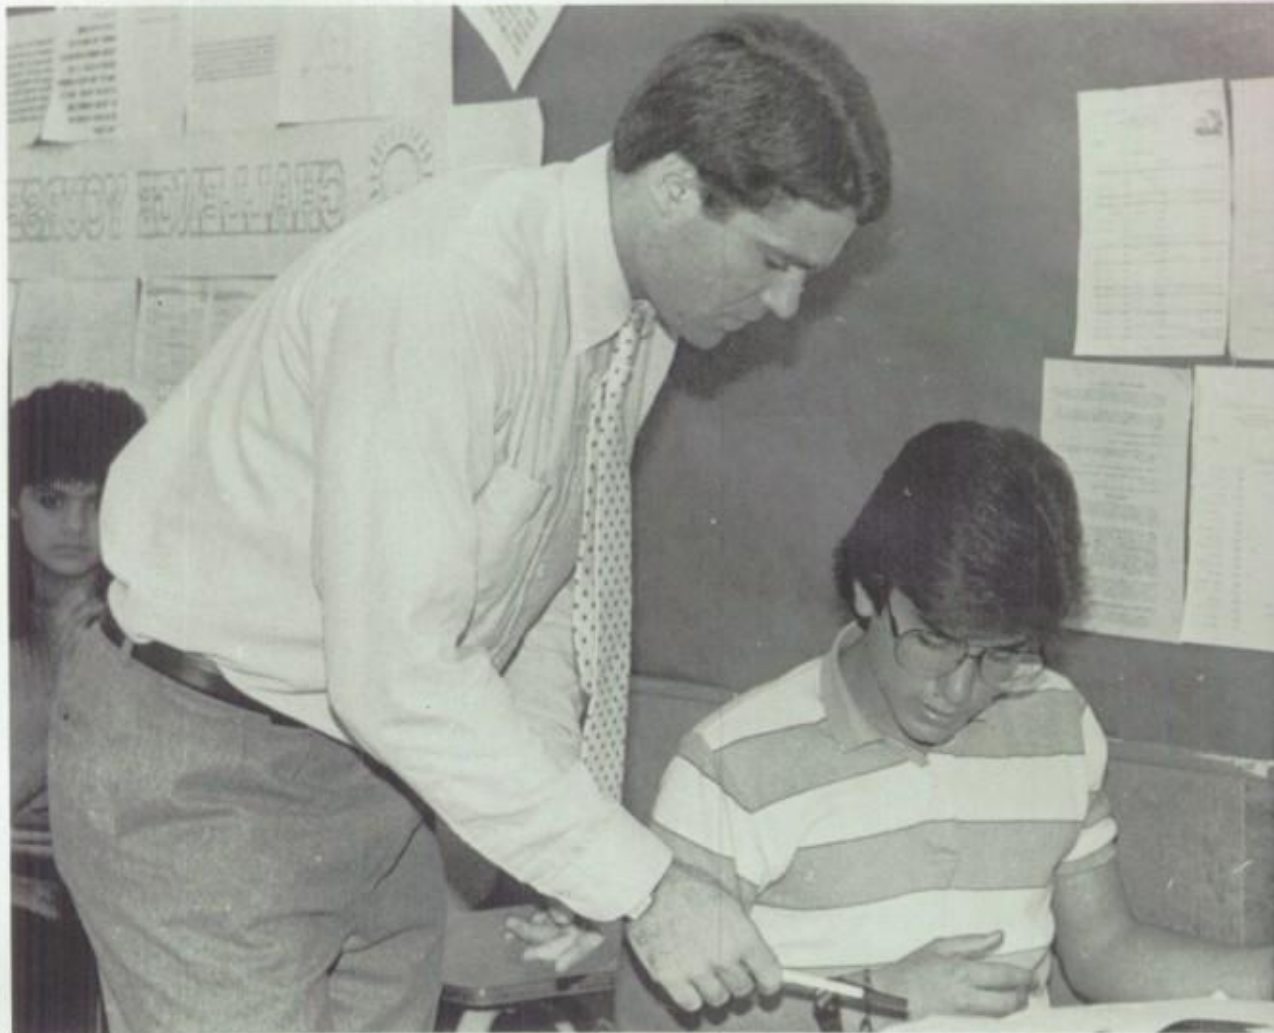

Miss Wallen comes from a school where the average classroom consisted of 18 students.

Don Smith, yearbook and journalism advisor, said that he really wanted his students to be excited and get motivated in what they were doing.

The newcomers at H.H.S. seemed to have more of a "zest" to really get to know the campus and earn respect from the students.

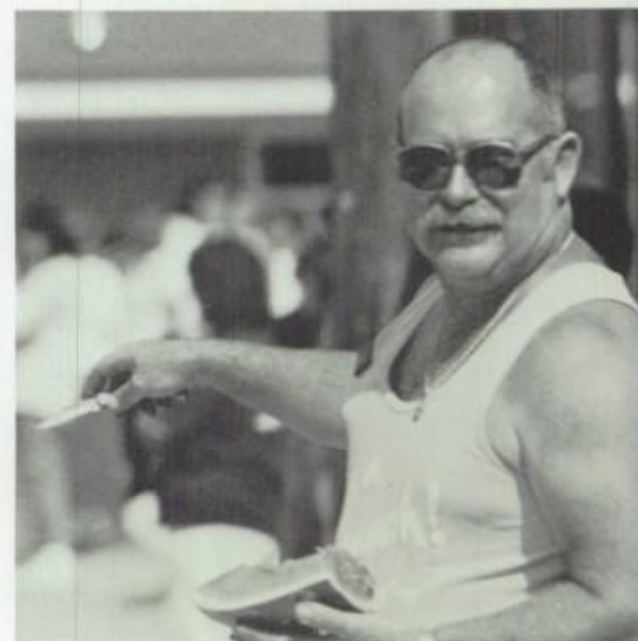

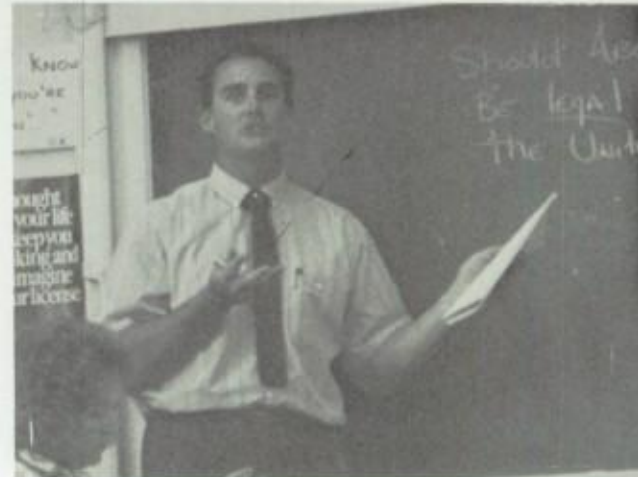

So if you see a new face don't forget to say "Hi!" and help our new teachers who are now seasoned veterans feel welcome here at S.B.H.S.

Their bright red shirts perhaps made them the most visible group of individuals on campus. Moreover, they were always there when you needed them and sometimes when you didn't.

Campus supervisors and students had a sort of a love-hate relationship between them.

What appeared to be an impossible task of keeping hundreds of students either from cutting class to littering, the supervisors seemed to tackle it, easily.

We asked a few campus supervisors what they liked best about their jobs. Supervisor, Sally Alexander, replied, "I love the relationship with the kids." Ramona Banuelos slyly said, "Winning the respect of the students is great, but the power and authority over them isn't so bad either."

She also said, "that working with students can be a real challenge," like the time she was serving as a cross guard, when she spotted a young man cutting class." She caught up with him and asked him to go back to class, but he had a different thought on his mind. She finally convinced him to go back to class, by bargaining with his sentence term in detention hall.

When some supervisors were asked what they would like to change most about their jobs, the majority of them said, they would want to change students' negative attitudes and outlooks toward them and the school.

When most students think of campus supervisors, cruel, heartless people come to mind, but they aren't as bad as they seemed to be.

So campus supervisors were really on our side!

Behind the scenes

They were the work force behind Hollister High! The custodians had a very important role here as is the case every year. They had to maintain the cleanliness of the school as well as repair any of the little tragedies which the student body created. Did you ever say to yourself, "Look how nice the girls athletic field looks today!"

Think about it, who could have kept it looking that good?

Without men such as George Tombe and Corky Roulette, our school's appearance would have left a lot to be desired.

It was apparant that not all of the student body showed their appreciation often enough though. Day after day litter had to be picked up by one of these people due to the thoughtlessness of somebody else. However, that never seemed to dim the optimism of these workers. They continued to work hard at whatever task they were given.

One example of their job was fixing up the parking lot when the population of the school was greatly increasing. These men responded very professionally.

Our school bus drivers were another invaluable asset. They provided transportation for many of the students. They went to great lengths to make sure the students would be safe as well as making it to school on time. Not only did they provide transportation for students but athletes as well, and usually they are in a good enough mood to stop for a bite to eat!

So next time you see one of these custodians or maintenance persons, instead of giving them a hard time, give them a hand. Their pride in San Benito High School is obvious. Let them know you feel the same!

In Memory Of...

Todd Robinson was born September 24, 1972 in Hollister and lived here for his entire life. As a child, he always loved the outdoors, and as he grew up he proved to be quite the outdoorsman. Fishing, hunting of deer and pigs, and camping is what he loved to do. He also belonged to FFA.

Todd, The Red Ripper, also loved baseball and football. He played both Little League and Babe Ruth and played on all star teams. He was a pitcher, shortstop, catcher and second baseman. In football Todd played for the cowboys as a linebacker and runningback.

Todd was better known as Todd-A-Ho by his friends. He always had a smile on his face and was always willing to help anyone that needed it. Todd was the type of person whom always had something to do, and was never ever bored.

Todd has left behind a lot of family and friends that have nothing but good memories of him.

As for you Todd, you will be missed greatly in our lives, but you will always be loved "Forever and Ever."

Todd, when we were together we always had a lot of fun. You were always there when I needed you. You helped me out with my problems that I couldn't solve by myself. I want you to remember that no one else can take your place. My heart won't wander far from you. I will always be your Dixie and Delight. I Love You Lots.

Frank John Cerrato III died on February 4, 1988 at 15 years old.

Born in Salinas Frank grew up in his home on Cieniega Road. He attended Sacred Heart School and Rancho San Justo School.

Frank loved to do many things. His hobbies were hunting and fishing but he especially liked to repair and fix up volkswagon bugs for racing.

Frank was a perfectionist by all means. If he couldn't have the best, he didn't want it at all. He liked to finish things and would work until he got them completed. He participated in the San Benito County horseshow and rodeo since the age of three. He also participated in the Monterey and Santa Cruz County fairs.

Frank was always a good listener. He also was a good talker. Whenever you had a problem Frank was there to listen. He gave the best advice he could and it was always what you needed to hear. Frank showed his friends that he too was a good friend.

Frank John Cerrato III was a good friend to everyone. No one will ever forget him. He will always hold a very special place in my heart for he was the best friend a person could ever want. I Love and Miss You Frank!

Humberto Bravo

August 12, 1970-March 1, 1988

On a bright sunny day, when everyone was enjoying the start of a new day, one of our best friends was fighting a futile battle with cancer.

Humberto "Beto" Bravo was born on a summer day in Guanajuato, Mexico. During the last ten years of his life, he had lived here in Hollister.

When his cancer was diagnosed about two years ago, he never let the illness get in his way.

Beto enjoyed the last days of his life to the fullest. You would never see him with a sad face, or complaining about this or that. Beto was always happy.

Beto's last wish was to go to Disneyland in a limousine. His dream came true on Feb. 11-13, 1988, when he spent three glorious days there.

Beto was hospitalized on a Sunday night and on a peaceful Tuesday night he left us.

Beto left many friends and family members who loved him. His grandparents Guadalupe and Carmen Bravo were with him until the end.

Beto's memory will live forever with his loving parents, Roberto and Elsa Bravo, and his many relatives and friends will miss him very much.

Beto is no longer with us, but in our hearts and minds he will always be.

Devonna,
Well it's over! Another year has been really great & you for a friend. You're a really sweet person & I hope that we will remain friends for a long time. I'd hate to lose our friendship. You're everything that I want & I can't really say a good friend & a very pretty one too! I'm glad we had a couple of classes together & thanks for the help in Mass-Media. When are you going to give me a picture of you? Well I hope your summer is the most out of your senior year & you go quick. Call me if you ever need to do something.
